DEMOLITION DRAMA IN DELHI'S SHAHEEN BAGH

Bulldozers rolled into the epicentre of the 2019 CAA protests on Monday, but protesters forced local body officials to go back

PLAINT AGAINST AAP MLA FOR OBSTRUCTION

On Monday morning, the South Delhi Municipal Corporation (SDMC) had sent its officials to carry out an anti-encroachment drive on the main road in Shaheen Bagh, but they were stopped by protesters led by Aam Aadmi Party MLA Aamanatullah Khan. SDMC later filed a police complaint against Khan and his supporters for obstructing the civic body's work

SC REFUSES TO ENTERTAIN CPM's PLEA

- Meanwhile, the CPM moved the Supreme Court against the demolition drive, but the apex court rejected the plea saying it cannot interfere at the instance of a political party
- A bench of Justices L Nageswara Rao and B R Gavai asked the petitioner to approach the Delhi High Court

Rajapaksas' house in ancestral village razed

The ancestral home of the Rajapaksas in Medamulana in Hambantota city was set on fire by protesters. Mahinda's house in Kurunegala was also torched. Besides, a mob destroyed the D A Rajapaksa Memorial — constructed in the memory of the father of Mahinda and Gotabaya — in Hambantota

Global outrage

"We condemn the violence against the peaceful protesters today and call on the government to conduct a full investigation including the arrest and prosecution of anyone who incited violence," US Ambassador Julie Chung tweeted. The EU urged all parties to act with restraint and refrain from violence

Protesters among at least five persons dead in spiralling violence as ruling party uses force to end agitation; one lawmaker commits suicide; curfew imposed across Sri Lanka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

AT least five persons, including a member of parliament of the Sri Lankan ruling party, died in sudden escalation of political violence across the country on Monday, forcing embattled Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa to resign after hanging on to power for weeks.

The protests that began on April 9 against the misrule of the Rajapaksas for pushing the country into its worst economic mess in decades, were peaceful till the ruling family apparently decided to teach the agitators a lesson.

Mahinda's supporters attacked protesters outside younger brother and President Gotabaya Rajapaksa's office in the morning, leaving at least 200 people injured. A nationwide curfew had to be imposed and the army deployed.

Sensing the attack had boomeranged, Mahinda, 76, sent his resignation letter to Gotabaya. "Effective immediately I have tendered my resignation as Prime Minister to the President," he tweeted.

demonstrators at MynaGoGama and GotaGoGama protest sites. The tents opposite Temple Trees, the official residence of the prime minister, were also pulled down by the mob.

The violence triggered widespread anger, with people turning their wrath on Rajapaksa loyalists. Vehicles carrying supporters of Mahinda were attacked across the country.

The car of the ruling party's lawmaker Amarakeerthi Athukorala was surrounded by protesters at the north western town of Nittambuwa. Athukorala allegedly opened fire killing one of the protesters. When the angry mob toppled the car, he took refuge in a nearby building and committed suicide using his own revolver. Later, the bodies of Athukorala and his personal security officer were found.

Protesters also tried to storm Mahinda's official residence in Colombo and set a truck at the entrance ablaze. Security personnel had to fire in the air to control the situation.

The mass violence has made President Gotabaya's position more difficult. He is the last Rajapaksa left in power. Others in the clan, including Basil and Namal, have already resigned. Mahinda's son and his chief of staff, Yoshitha Rajapaksa, left for Singapore with his wife early on Monday morning.

Former Lankan cricket great Sanath Jayasuriya said, "This is the end of the Rajapaksas. I never thought that this type of thuggery will be unleashed on innocent protesters at Galle Face in broad daylight and outside Temple Trees." P11

180-deg turn, as govt offers to review sedition law on its own

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

IN a sudden change of heart, the Central government on Monday filed a fresh affidavit before the Supreme Court saying it has decided to reconsider its position on Section 124A of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 that deals with sedition law.

Monday's affidavit comes just a couple of days after it defended 124A in its submission in the court, arguing that instances of the abuse of the law cannot justify the reconsideration of a binding judgment of the Constitution bench.

Doing a complete U-turn, the government on Monday requested the court to await its internal exercise and not invest time in examining 124A, adding the relook will happen before a constitutionally permitted appropriate forum.

The Union home ministry's affidavit said the government is committed to removing outdated colonial laws while protecting the sovereignty of the nation. Over 1,500 outdated laws have been scrapped since 2014-15 when the Modi government first came to power, it said.

It also pointed out that over 25,000 compliance burdens that were pain points have already been removed under Narendra Modi's watch as prime minister. "Various offences which were causing mindless hindrances to people have been de-criminalised. This is an ongoing process. These were laws and compliances which reeked of a colonial mindset and thus have no place in today's India," the Centre said.

It added that the government was aware of various views being expressed on the subject of sedition, including concerns of civil liberties and human rights activists.

In the Kedar Nath Singh vs State of Bihar case in 1962, a Constitution bench had upheld the sedition law. The Centre in its initial affidavit had said the Kedar Nath verdict came after testing the constitutional validity of 124A from all angles.

A three-member bench led by Chief Justice N V Ramana had last week said it would hear arguments on May 10 (Tuesday) on whether pleas challenging the sedition law should be referred to a larger bench for reconsidering.

Penal provisions

The affidavit said there is general agreement about the need for statutory provisions to deal with serious offences of a divisive nature. "Penal provision for such purposes is generally accepted by all in legitimate state interest."

₹ slips further, on course to touch 78

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE rupee, which touched the lowest level of 77.56 against the dollar on Monday, may fall further to 78 or even 78.5 in the short term. Unfavourable macroeconomic conditions may continue to weigh on the rupee in the short-term as foreign investors desert India amid hike in US interest rates and widening India's trade deficit.

Experts say the rupee, like many other emerging market currencies, may be under further downward pressure as there is a high likelihood that the US central bank will hike interest rates again. The impact on global commodity prices due to uncertainties around war could also weaken the rupee further.

"The rupee has a tough week ahead. After having broken above 77 levels, there is the possibility of this move extending towards 78.00 and even 78.50 levels on spot," says currency expert Anindya Banerjee.

Rupee is in ICU: Cong

Targeting the Narendra Modi government, the Congress said the rupee is in ICU. Party leader Rahul Gandhi said the PM cannot keep the economic realities of India "hidden forever"

At the time of writing this, the rupee had settled around 77.45 after the day's low of 77.56. The rupee has fallen 3.9% since the beginning of this year, when it was trading around 74.5 against the US currency.

When foreign investors sell off their rupee-denominated investment in Indian equity and debt, the demand for dollar vis-a-vis rupee goes up, weakening the local currency. Similarly, when imports exceed exports (trade deficit) by a bigger margin, the rupee gets weak.

Some experts, however, believe the rupee needs to depreciate to maintain our export competitiveness.

Ravindranath, DGP, says will resign today

MANJU SHETTAR & PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

EXPRESSING displeasure over his recent transfer to the training wing of the Karnataka state police, Director General of Police (DGP) Dr P Ravindranath on Monday said he will tender his resignation on Tuesday.

After handing over charge to ADGP Arun Chakravarthy at Directorate of Civil Rights Enforcement (DCRE), Ravindranath walked from his office on Palace Road to the office of the state police chief on Nrupathunga Road to meet DG&IGP Praveen Sood.

Ravindranath confirmed to TNIE that he will resign on Tuesday morning after meeting Chief Secretary P Ravi Kumar. The 1989-batch officer is known for resigning and later withdrawing his resignation letters. He had tendered his resignation in 2008, 2014 and 2020.

The DGP said that he is being targeted by a 'few individuals' who are influencing the government.

"I am not against the government. The transfer is not on my request or in the interest of the public. It is a clear case of conspiracy and I have decided to resign," he added. P4

Will enforce SC order on speakers: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS members of a pro-Hindu organisation played devotional songs from temples early Monday morning to protest against the use of loudspeakers at mosques for azaan, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said the Supreme Court order on the use of loudspeakers in public places applies to everyone and it will be implemented in a strict, but cordial, manner. No one should take law into their own hands, he said.

Demanding that the government implement the SC order and remove unauthorised loudspeakers, Sriram Sene members played devotional songs at temples in Hubballi-Dharwad and other places. In Kalaburagi, the police arrested members of the organisation when they started marching toward a mosque to play bhajans.

Bommai, after chairing a meeting with chief executive officers of zilla panchayats, said the Supreme Court has issued an order on the use of loudspeakers in public places and the then state government in 2002 too had issued an order in this regard. The issue was discussed with the senior officers during the meeting and clear orders will be issued again on implementing the court directions, he said.

"The Central government too has issued an order in accordance with recommendations of the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB). It clearly specifies the places and decibel levels for use of loudspeakers in public places.

In 2002, the Karnataka government issued an order to implement the SC order and also directions from the Centre," he said.

The GO issued by the state government also specifies details on various aspects, like whether the loudspeakers are used throughout the year and the need to obtain clearance for this. P4

Mask may have helped acid attacker evade cops

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

IT has been 12 days since a 24-year-old woman became a victim of an acid attack in Bengaluru, but there have been no clues on the whereabouts of the accused, Nagesh (27).

A police officer investigating the case said the compulsory mask rule, implemented in the state since Covid cases are increasing, is hampering the investigation as the accused could be taking advantage of it."Except for his pictures, none of the police officers have seen him in real life, which has made it difficult to identify him with a mask. Most accused wear caps to hide their identities, and if Nagesh is moving around wearing both a cap and mask, it will be difficult to pick him in a crowd," he added.

All this while, the acid attack victim has been told that Nagesh, who was pestering her to marry him, has been caught. "We don't want her to get depressed further with the information that the police are yet to catch him. We are trying to make her not to think about the horrific incident. Her face has not been scarred, and on Monday, she underwent a fourth surgery," one of the family members told TNIE. Sundaresh, the victim's uncle, said, "I visited the police station on Monday to get an update on the case." P3

2 months after inauguration, stadium roof collapses

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

BARELY two months after the Atal Bihari Vajpayee stadium was inaugurated by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai in HSR LayoutBengaluru, a portion of the stadium's roof came crashing down due to heavy rains and strong winds on Sunday. The cost of the damage is estimated to be around Rs 25 lakh.

The residents are putting the blame on the doorstep of local MLA Satish Kumar, accusing him of going ahead with the inauguration even before the work had completed. On Sunday, two shelters of the stadium collapsed, tiles and slabs were broken and parts of the cement work and walls developed cracks. BBMP Joint Commissioner of Bommanahalli, M Ramakrishna told TNIE that the repair works will be completed in a few days and the cost will be borne by the contractors.

Meanwhile, activist Kavitha Reddy told TNIE that the issue dates back to 10 years when a judges colony was proposed to be built on the same playground. "We had lodged our protest with the government and had won. Funds were raised by local residents and Resident Welfare Associations (RWAs) to help build a playground. We had requested the government to build an open playground to allow children from all ages to play," she said. A number of residents had filed a court case against building a stadium, she added.

The stadium was inaugurated by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on March 1, despite it being only partially completed. Bommanahalli MLA Suresh Reddy said that parts of the stadium like the basketball and volleyball courts had been completed which is why the inauguration took place. However, the residents said the matter was subjudice and demanded that the MLA should pay for the costs for poor quality work.

Reddy, however, said, "We as local politicians had fought along with the citizens against the building of the judges colony as it had been a local playground. We decided to develop it." He added that he has already held a meeting with the joint commissioner and the contractor and repair work has already begun.

KSRTC bus rams Metro pillar, 29 injured

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FOUR passengers sustained serious injuries and 25 others, including the driver and conductor, received minor injuries after the KSRTC bus in which they were travelling rammed into a Metro rail pillar on the Bengaluru-Mysuru Road near Kengeri in the wee hours of Monday.

The Bengaluru-bound bus, which was coming from Madikeri, rammed into pillar number 545 of the Namma Metro. The driver, Venkataram, is said to have lost control while trying to avoid a pothole. Another driver Manjunath had driven the bus from Madikeri for a few kilometers before handing it over to Venkataram.

The traffic police, which said the driver could have easily run the bus on the pothole, had to use a crane to retrieve the bus from the accident spot. Police suspect the driver lost control of the bus while overspeeding near Poornima Palace and crashed into the pillar.

"Of the 45 passengers travelling in the bus, four have sustained serious injuries, while 25 received minor injuries," Dr Sanjeev Patil, DCP (West) told the media.

Kengeri traffic police have registered a case of negligent and rash driving against the bus driver.

KSRTC officials visit hospital

According to a press release issued by the KSRTC, the incident happened between 1.30 am and 2 am on Monday. It said the bus driver lost control and hit the right side median before ramming into the pillar. The chassis of the bus was damaged in the accident.

The passengers who sustained serious injuries are undergoing treatment at a private hospital in Kengeri. The other injured have been admitted to another private hospital on Mysuru Road and also in Victoria Hospital.

Senior KSRTC officers visited the injured in the hospitals. The medical expenses of all the injured will be borne by the corporation, the press release stated.

BMRCL statement

The BMRCL said in a release that the bus crashed into the median, handrails and crash-barrier of Pier No 545 between Jnanabharathi and Pattanagere Metro station. The accident site was inspected by senior BMRCL officers who said there were only superficial scratches on Pier No 545. There were no structural damages as crash barriers have been provided on the piers, the BMRCL said. Metro operations are safe as the impact due to the accident has not affected any of the assets of Metro, except for damage to median and steel railings, the press release added.

BBMP reaction

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said the area is being examined and the CCTV footages are also being checked. "Prima facie it appears that there is no fault on the part of the BBMP and the accident appears to be a result of rash driving," he said.

North B'luru emerging as next growth destination: Study

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ BENGALURU

NORTH Bengaluru is fast emerging as the new business hub with several establishments having set up operations and currently employing over 5 lakh people, and is expected to add at least another 3,50,000 new jobs, capturing around 30% overall office absorption by 2025, as per a market research study.

Brigade Group and Meraqi Research have come up with the study, which also suggests that the Bangalore International Airport Area Planning Authority (BIAAPA) region, which currently employs around 35,000 people, is fast developing as India's first aerotropolis development with high demand for satellite offices as well as residential units.

"By 2030, when fully developed, this area alone would employ around 2,50,000 people. Additionally, the thrust on infrastructure development in Bengaluru North, including the Metro Rail Phase 2B, Peripheral Ring Road, and Satellite Ring Road, will provide the much-needed connectivity to other IT hubs in the city," the report added.

The study indicated that the work profile of North Bengaluru has significantly shifted from IT/BPM to high-value consulting, analytics, and R&D-oriented jobs. The commercial growth of the region has also pushed up the residential catchment potential, with 15,000 existing units and a supply requirement of over 1,00,000 units by 2025, the report added.

The research suggests that North Bengaluru in particular and the city as a whole will continue to dominate the office leasing space not only within the country but in the Asia Pacific region as well.

The study suggests that 530 acres of land have already been banked in North Bengaluru and some of the key demand drivers include proximity to Kempegowda International Airport, low occupancy cost, emerging commercial development, and the fact that North Bengaluru lies at the focal point of two major industrial corridors namely the Bengaluru-Mumbai Industrial Corridor and the Chennai-Benglauru Industrial Corridor with major industrial parks between them.

"The office market has been progressive post Covid impact and demand is expected to continue primarily due to increasing demand for satellite offices, which is propelled by a concurrent demand for residential units in the region. From an investment angle, the high potential commercial growth of North Bengaluru makes it the next growth destination, as commercial establishments will witness steady growth over the next few years, and an additional supply of residential catchment will be created," said Nirupa Shankar, Executive Director, Brigade Group.

Over 2,000 native tree species of Karnataka, such as neem, jamun, dhuma and peepal will be planted this year.

Citizens can upload pics of potholes on BBMP app

BENGALURU: BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said that from Monday, citizens can upload pictures and details of potholes in the city on Fix My Street App. He will be able to share details of all the potholes in the city and how many have been filled by Thursday. He said officials have to visit the spots and upload the data, with the report of what is filled and what is not. Later, the AEE will visit the spot and verify it, which will take another two days. Seven days are being fixed to fill potholes.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

10th May: There's been a lot in the news about the threat to life on earth from rogue asteroids and colliding comets. I even read another spate of articles last week. In fact the idea that we're at risk from a cosmic collision was first dreamt up by the science-fiction writer, H.G.Wells. Now the astronomers have followed suit. It's a real demonstration of fact following fiction!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
A domestic confrontation could be the best way of clearing the air. You may welcome the chance to let your pent-up frustrations into the open, and it pays to let other people know just what you are thinking - but be gentle with them at the same time! The fact is, though, that you might do best to stick by partners through thick and thin.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Now that Mercury is occupying such a powerful position in your chart, you must face up to career decisions. However, there's a high probability that you'll misunderstand important instructions, so listen carefully. Family members' spirits will improve no end if they think you're taking them seriously!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Business plans will benefit from your more cautious instincts. Keep your most imaginative schemes on the back-burner until you feel instinctively that it's time to make your move. Until then, keep talking - you might find that other people are now much more responsive to your ideas.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
There's a risk that your confidence will be undermined, if only by your failure to achieve unrealistically high goals. Don't over-reach yourself - and don't place your trust in people who are likely to let you down. It's a day to underpin high hopes with realistic expectations.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
There's a big wide world waiting to feel the benefit of your caring skills and concern, and the best way to use current planetary energies is by helping people worse off than you. In the process you'll discover more about your own limitations - and possibilities.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You've a naturally inquiring nature, and you love to be left by yourself to study strange and mysterious subjects. Over the next few months you'll do well to follow up what may be a relatively new interest. First, you have to work out how to handle secret feelings.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Even though it may be some time before you notice the effect in your pocket, today's planetary movements are ideal from the financial point of view. Past efforts to boost your income will finally begin to pay off. You could also be the first person to benefit from certain global trends, but just how won't be clear for another six months.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
For the next four months, you may many of you will have every opportunity to achieve a life-long ambition. If, by any chance, you don't succeed, you'll have to try again later in the year. This is actually a most important moment, and one to make long-term plans.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You may start to think of ways to increase your earnings. As a rule you have little time for business, but you know only too well that without enough money certain goals will remain beyond your grasp. Set yourself suitable targets over the next five days.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
While you're often quite unsure of your real desires, you'll be compulsively drawn into new company within the next month. You must look to your immediate environment - and to close friends - for the stimulation which is essential to your sense of well-being and the support you deserve.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You may well be feeling under the weather, but the cause could be over-work rather than any physical complaint. For whatever reason, you need to pamper yourself and luxuriate in fabulous surroundings. The chances are that a request for additional time off will be received sympathetically.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The watchword today is trust and it will be distressing when some people doubt your word. Yet, in the long run, the tide is definitely now flowing in your direction. Keep it that way. Also, make a point of finishing all outstanding obligations rather than waiting for other people to do the job.

PU student runs away, buried alive

Sand loaded onto truck he was sleeping in

MG CHETAN @Bengaluru

An 18-year-old second PU student, who had left a death note before leaving home, was buried alive after he slept in a truck and workers loaded it with sand. The tragic incident was reported in the Marathalli police limits. The deceased, Somanath, was a resident of Katmandu Layout in Hoskote Town on the outskirts of the city.

The police said he was a bright student studying at a private college but had an altercation with some classmates, who had threatened to finish him off over a trivial issue. Leaving a note that his friends had threatened to kill him and that he would take his life, he had requested that no action should be taken against them. Somanath had left the house in the early hours of May 4. His father, who does woodwork for an interior designing firm, had filed a missing person complaint with the Hoskote police the same day.

His body was found while workers were unloading sand from a truck at a construction site in Marathalli on Saturday morning.

The Marathalli police said a load of sand for the construction of a house was brought from Bagaluru.

His body was found in a sleeping position when workers were unloading sand. The police suspected that Somanath might have loitered after leaving the house and entered the truck to sleep. Without checking the trailer, the workers filled it with sand burying him alive.

Mask helps in identification

Based on the mask found in his pocket, the police established the identity of Somanath.

"The mask had the name of the interior designing firm where his father worked. Doctors who conducted the post-mortem said sand particles were found in the lungs and this had caused the death," an official said, adding that the case has been transferred to Hoskote police for further probe.

Forum orders Canara Bank to pay ₹1L compensation to client

YATHIRAJU @Bengaluru

A consumer commission directed Canara Bank to pay compensation of Rs 1 lakh to a resident of Bengaluru for not releasing a mortgage deed even after eight years had lapsed, and failing to close the loan account opened, though property loan was not sanctioned. The bank had alleged that there was a dispute pending before court, relating to the property.

Observing that the complainant G Bhaktavatchalam, a resident of Bettappa Lane, would have made other arrangements to avail a loan to meet his financial needs, the Bangalore Urban II Additional District Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission also directed Canara Bank, Avenue Road Branch, to close the complainant's SB account and discharge the mortgage deed dated September 25, 2012.

The Commission said the bank has acted in a lethargic and negligent manner after obtaining the property documents, without sanctioning loan. It created charge on the mortgage property though there is no liability created in its favour by the complainant. Terming it deficiency of service which caused loss and mental agony to the complainant, the panel ordered compensation from 2012 till the filing of the complaint in 2019, along with 6 per cent interest per annum.

However, the Commission, comprising president M Shobha, members B Devaraju and V Anuradha, rejected the complainant's prayer to direct the bank to hand over original documents, as he failed to establish that he had handed over original title deeds to the bank.

The complainant alleged that he had approached the bank for a loan of Rs 80 lakh and mortgaged a portion of his property, but the bank did not sanction the loan.

Need more doctors in rural areas, says surgeon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

RENOWNED surgeon and author Kavery Nambisan has reiterated that doctors are needed in areas away from cities, as well as those who are willing to cater to the needs of slum-dwellers.

Speaking at the 53rd convocation of St John's Medical College on Monday, she said, "Personal success is not the end-all of a medical career. Always check where the need lies, as we need research-oriented doctors, super-specialists, those who will take up community medicine. We need doctors willing to work on the periphery, away from cities, and those who will address the needs of the millions who live in slums."

Nambisan has been a vocal advocate against healthcare centred in urban areas, highlighting the importance of bringing healthcare to rural areas. She spoke alongside Mandya Bishop Sebastian Adayantharath.

In all, 229 students were awarded their degrees on Monday. This includes the first batch of 150 MBBS students, who had been admitted in 2016. Before 2016, the college had allowed only 60 students into its MBBS course. Besides, 63 post-graduate students, 16 super-speciality students and 6 PhD scholars also graduated.

Lupus walkathon on Sunday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A walkathon is being conducted to spread awareness on lupus, an autoimmune condition, on the occasion of World Lupus Day. The walkathon to be held on Sunday, May 15, is being conducted in association with the Lupus Trust India (LTI), Indian Rheumatology Association (IRA) and South Indian Medical Student Association (SIMSA).

The walkathon will be the first in three years, after its maiden launch in 2019. It was suspended due to Covid-19. The walkathon will be held at Lalbagh West Gate at 8am on Sunday.

7 POLICE TEAMS TO TRACE ACID ATTACKER

"THEY told me that they were trying all possible ways to catch him," he added. An officer said, "The first rule for the accused is to cover their face. We are facing the same issue in this case too, making the task of identifying the accused difficult. The government is applying pressure on us to catch him. We are banking on the lookout notice, where we have put out several pictures of him, showing how he would probably look with changed appearances. Citizens too can share any detail anytime."

The seven police teams formed to trace him have fanned out and are trying different methods to catch him. The accused, who was a resident of Sanjeevini Nagar in Hegganahalli, escaped after throwing acid on the victim near her workplace in Sunkadakatte.

If the public has any information on the accused, they can call 9480801728, 9448904822, 08022942517 and 08022943232.

Bommai off to Delhi today, likely to meet top brass

CM may seek appointment with Modi and Union Home Minister Shah

EXPRESS NEW SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai scheduled to visit New Delhi on Tuesday, speculation is once again rife over the cabinet rejig as his visit comes in the backdrop of postponing last Thursday's cabinet meeting by a week.

According to sources, he is likely to seek the appointment of the party high command, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union Home Minister Amit Shah, BJP National President J P Nadda, among others.

But this time, whether he returns with a list of new faces to be inducted into the cabinet and veterans to be dropped, is the billion-dollar question. Bommai, who has been holding a series of meetings of various departments on his budget implementation, will be calling on central leaders to showcase that his priority is development, and impress them so as to get funds released.

On Tuesday evening, the CM will interact with ambassadors of various countries to showcase Invest Karnataka 2022 - Global Investors' Meet (GIM). In fact, Large and Medium Industries Minister Murugesh Nirani is already in New Delhi and has started his interaction with the foreign delegates. On Monday, he met Chang Jae-bok, Ambassador, Republic of Korea, at the Korean embassy in New Delhi, and invited investors to participate in GIM, to be held in Bengaluru from November 2 to 4. Bommai's return journey on Wednesday is open-ended, and he could expect the appointment of the party high command.

You're on my radar, CM warns ZP CEOs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Monday warned the officials that any delay in implementing the programmes announced in the budget will not be tolerated. "You are on my radar and I am watching all of you," the CM told the Chief Executive Officers of Zilla Panchayats during a review meeting regarding the implementation of the programmes.

The CM informed the officers to serve the poor and the weaker sections and contribute to building a 'New India' by building a 'New Karnataka'. The officers must restore public faith in the system by implementing the welfare programmes announced by the government, he said.

The government's programmes must reach the doors of the common people, and they should not be made to run from pillar to post to get those services, he said.

CM Basavaraj Bommai holds a meeting with ZP CEOs at Vidhana Soudha

Selection of beneficiaries for housing and other welfare programmes in the districts should be completed without any delay and all the programmes and projects should be implemented in a time-bound manner, he said. The officers were directed to formulate programmes to eradicate malnutrition and take up the construction of 7,000 classrooms on a priority basis. The CEOs were directed to ensure that the programmes for the upgradation of 100 Primary Health Centres, construction of 100 student hostels, the opening of Namma Clinics in cities, Mukhyamantri Arogya Vahini and other programmes are implemented quickly.

The officers were also directed to complete Jal Jeevan Mission by 2023 and all the files pending before the Chief Engineers should be cleared within a week. The CM directed the officials to ensure there is no delay in paying wages for MGNREGA workers.

On high rate of cesarean section surgeries in some districts, Bommai asked the officials to find out reasons.

The Infant Mortality Rate in the State is 23 per 1,000 births and measures should be taken to find out the reasons and reduce it.

Police take Sri Ram Sene activists into custody in Kalaburagi on Monday

Activists march to mosque, arrested

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kalaburagi

THE police took 20 Sri Ram Sene activists under Preventive Custody after they tried to march towards the place of prayer of minority community to chant Bhajans at the time of their prayers. The activists were later released.

A huge contingent of police were deployed in front of all the mosques. When Sri Ram Sene activists led by its district unit president Mahesh Gabbur started marching towards a mosque situated at Super Market from Jagat Circle to chant Bhajans, the police took about 20 activists under Preventive Custody.

It is said that some more people were waiting near the mosque to join with the Sri Ram Sene activists but they dispersed after learning that the activists have been taken into custody near Jagat Circle. Meanwhile, the activists of Dalit Sene gathered in large numbers near the mosques to block the Sri Ram Sene activists from gathering near the mosque.

KUMARASWAMY WANTS MUTHALIK ARRESTED

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bagalkot

CRITICIZING Sri Ram Sene chief Pramod Muthalik for his drive against loudspeakers in mosques, JD(S) leader and former Chief Minister H D Kumaraswamy demanded stringent action and immediate arrest of Muthalik.

Speaking to the reporters on Monday, Kumaraswamy said, "If the government fails to take action against such people like Muthalik, they will destroy the harmony and peace of our State. The government should not entertain such people and it should act before the issue goes out of hands."

"The government should permit loudspeakers as per the norms of the Supreme Court. I feel that playing Hanuman Chalisa on loudspeakers will not help to save Hindutva. I recite Hanuman Chalisa everyday at my home and whenever there are health and other issues," he said.

"These organisations will create nuisance in the society and destroy innocent lives. The government should consider it seriously and arrest Muthalik at the earliest," he demanded.

"Instead of carrying out such drives, there is a necessity to raise voice against the government for high inflation and soaring fuel prices. The farmers are yet to get the crop insurance of the previous year. The common people are already suffering, and the organisations should not play with their lives," appealed the former Chief Minister.

Muthalik blasts govt for serving notice to temples

MYSURU: Sri Ram Sene Chief Pramod Muthalik has alleged that the government is stopping the Suprabath from being played while it is allowing Azaan in mosques. He said that they will file a contempt of court petition making the Home Minister Araga Jnanendra and the Deputy Commissioner parties for not following the court orders. Speaking to media persons after playing Suprabath, Hanuman bhajans in Sri Byraveshwara temple in Srirampet here, he said that they will step up their protest across the State from Tuesday. He hit out at the government for failing to remove the loudspeakers from mosques which has compelled them to play Suprabath in temples. He alleged that playing Azaan has created problems for people and criticized the government for serving notice to temples, arresting them but turning a blind eye to mosques.

Cong leaders meet CM

Bengaluru: A team of Congress leaders met Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and urged the government to come out with a policy statement and clear rules on noise pollution following the Supreme Court order. The delegation, comprising Dr Syed Nasir Hussain MP, and MLAs UT Khader and NA Haris, MLC Nasir Ahmed and others met Bommai.

Guidelines will be issued to enforce the order: Bommai

The onus of implementing the order lies with police officers of the rank of DySP in the respective areas. "Suitable guidelines will be issued to enforce the order," the chief minister said. Bommai said everyone should obey the order and no one should take law into their own hands. The government has taken note of the developments in other states and the SC order is being followed in many states, including Uttar Pradesh, he added.

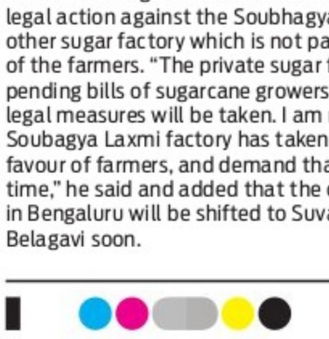
BENGALURU: In an unprecedented move, Opposition Leader in the Council BK Hariprasad along with other Congress party MLCs -Chief Whip MLC Prakash Rathod, KOA Chairman LK Govindraj and others held placards and protested outside the official chamber of Higher Education Minister CN Ashwath Narayan's office on Monday. Hariprasad told TNIE that the Congress has joined the protest by MLC Maritibbe Gowda as a "token of support". Gowda started his protest against the government's decision on deputation of 1,200 lecturers because he alleged that the deputation was "unfair and unscientific."



RDPR minister pushes for sandalwood cultivation

Bengaluru: Union Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Minister Giriraj Singh who commenced his two-day trip to Karnataka from Indian Institute of Horticulture Research (IIHR), Hesaraghatta near Bengaluru on Sunday, visited the horticulture crop pattern of progressive farmers in Tumakuru on Monday. When farmers shared with him the problems they face, he suggested them to get in touch with the Sandalwood Research and get to know about the market for the seeds, while trying to convince them to take up the cultivation. He was impressed by the innovative methods of farming.

'Sugar factories to face action over farmers' dues'

BELAGAVI : Sugar Minister Shankar Patil Munenkoppa promised legal action against the Soubhagya Laxmi Sugar factory or any other sugar factory which is not pay the pending sugarcane bills of the farmers. "The private sugar factories must clear the pending bills of sugarcane growers immediately. If not, necessary legal measures will be taken. I am not bothered whether the Soubagya Laxmi factory has taken a loan from banks. We are in favour of farmers, and demand that factories pay their bills in time," he said and added that the office of Sugar Commissioner in Bengaluru will be shifted to Suvarna Vidhana Soudha in Belagavi soon.

BJP head-hunting in Old Mysore to hit JDS

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

THE BJP's ambitious drive to expand in Old Mysore is likely to hit the JDS hardest, with the saffron party reaching out to leaders and cadres at the grassroots, besides knocking at the doors of disgruntled leaders of other parties.

The process started with N C Narayana Gowda defecting from JDS to the BJP, winning bypolls and becoming a minister. The BJP wants to further consolidate its hold here for the bigger battle, and is concentrating on micro-level politics. Although the JDS has a strong base in the Vokkaliga heartland, the party is feeling the pinch as it is unable to keep its flock together. Local leaders, including MLAs, are looking for greener pastures for their political survival.

Despite the party giving due importance to Lingayat leader and North Karnataka face Basavaraj Horatti, he is on his way out. Farmer leader Kona Reddy said they have crossed over to hold the lotus in their hands. JDS Kolar MLA Srinivasa Gowda has maintained a distance from party activities, as has Chamundeshwari MLA G T Deve Gowda. Former Malur MLA Manjunath Gowda joined BJP last week.

The JDS has another worry: Veteran MLA Shivalinge Gowda and former MLA Y S V Datta have fallen into the Gowda family's bad books and are frequent visitors to Siddaramaiah's residence. The entry of Aam Aadmi Party into Karnataka's political spectrum, and farmer leader Kodihalli Chandrashekar joining Kerjiwal's party may also chip away at its farmer vote-bank.

The JDS has come out with Mission 123 and Navarathana programmes, assuring voters of free education, healthcare, houses, and completion of irrigation projects, but faces the challenge of keeping its soldiers united in Old Mysore region, that comprises over 90 assembly constituencies. Knowing the party needs Muslim votes, JDS patriarch H D Deve Gowda brought in one-time confidant C M Ibrahim, and is hunting for prominent faces to rejuvenate the party.

Congress is a sinking ship, says BJP MLC

MYSURU: BJP state general secretary and MLC Ravikumar said the JDS will become history in the upcoming polls while he described the Congress as a sinking ship. Inaugurating the BJP convention in which JDS youth leaders Ashok Jairam, Ashwin Kumar and others joined the saffron camp at Silver Jubilee Park in Mandya, Ravikumar said among the parties, BJP is the party of the future.

PSI SCAM

GP ex-prez, prez, their sons in net

ENS @ Hassan

THE Criminal Investigation Department (CID) sleuths have arrested four persons including the president and former president of Gram Panchayat in Channarayapatna taluk in connection with the PSI scam on Monday.

The five-member team has also arrested two candidates and their fathers after interrogating them for half an hour.

Venkatesh, a candidate, is son of Chandrashekar and another candidate Venugopal, is the son of Keshavamurthy. Chandrashekar was a former Gram Panchayat president while Keshavamurthy is the president of Bekka Gram Panchayat in Channaryapatna taluk. Sleuths have also quizzed Shashidar, former president of Channarayapatna town panchayat in this regard. Two more persons including Narayanappa of Channarayapatna who allegedly played the roles of mediators have been summoned. Shravanabelagola MLA C N Balakrishna welcomed the probe into the scam. Sources said CID has got vital clues from candidates who were arrested and they had reportedly invested over 80 lakh through middlemen.

'I recently named couple of influential people'

RAVINDRANATH said he demands justice and will take further decisions. "Recently, I had revealed the names of a couple of influential people during a press meet. Notices were issued to them to appear before the officer in the Directorate of Civil Rights Enforcement (DCRE), where I have worked for about one-and-a-half years. Soon after that press meet, I was targeted and the government decided to transfer me by violating norms," he added.

He expressed willingness to work at DCRE for some more days as he wants to give justice to the genuine SC/ST community. "I wanted to initiate action against those individuals who have taken fake certificates to obtain government jobs through the SC/ST quota. I have been working sincerely and without bias," he added.

Ravindranath, while serving as ADGP, had tendered his resignation to the then Chief Secretary TM Vijay Bhaskar through the state police chief Praveen Sood on October 28, 2020. He had then accused a 'few individuals' of harassing him. The officer was unhappy over the promotion of two other IPS officers to the post of director general of police when his name was second in seniority. He later withdrew the resignation after meeting then CM BS Yediyurappa.

LIFE IN PRISON PART-II

With no vocational training, women prisoners stare at bleak future

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

AT least 184 women in Bangalore Central Prison at Parappana Agrahara wait anxiously for vocational training and skill jobs to resume. Since early 2020, all vocational programmes were stopped because of the pandemic, leaving many women with no money to avail legal help or pay those taking care of their children, husbands or ailing parents.

The prison used to have limited activities — like making paper bags, embroidery and bakery — for women prisoners, who could earn about Rs 3,000 a month. But now they are left with nothing. Soumya (a woman prisoner out on parole) from Kolar says some women inmates cannot afford to buy basic hygiene supplies. Families do not even contact them. There are many who can't afford legal services as they don't have money.

She cites the example of one woman prisoner who was shifted from Tumkur prisons where prisoners were making incense sticks. Rs 10 was given per packet which included 120 sticks. "Although meagre, she earned a few thousands a month. She could send money to her mother who took care of not only her husband who doesn't have an arm and suffers from Tuberculosis, but also her two school-going children," Soumya says. But Covid-19 claimed the mother's life, and the children dropped out of school to work as construction workers. The woman, when out on parole, pawned the little jewellery she had for her husband's treatment, and is now left with nothing.

"Prison officials need to think of industries which can come and train us. There are quite a few we have heard doing that for prisoners in other states," says Soumya.

Vocational and skill training classes for women inmates not only create a positive environment, but also keep inmates busy, making them skilled and financially independent. So, when they are released they can start life afresh and earn a living.

"We were unable to take any orders from NGOs or private agencies during the pandemic, or allow outsiders to come and train these women for skilled jobs," says a senior prison official, requesting anonymity.

"Space, too, is limited to put up textile machines. We admit more such courses are needed," says the officer. "There were also fights among women prisoners during bakery sessions. So we closed the entire kitchen and bakery area. The option is is now available only for male prisoners," the officer told TNIE.

Another woman prisoner Rekha (name changed) says safety is another issue. "Women are not allowed to step out of the women's barrack zone. While men have bigger space, we are restricted within four walls. We also need to be kept engaged," she says.

Chief Superintendent of Prisons P Ranganatha says, "We are going to resume activities soon. Once the Covid situation settles down we will move the women prisoners to a new prison where they can learn baking and other courses." Alok Mohan, Director General of Police, Prisons, says all vocational courses will restart. "There is more than what was happening earlier being planned. Nearly 25 courses will soon come up for prisoners," he adds. (Series concludes)

Carbon dating shows Tamils used iron ore 4K yrs ago

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @chennai

CHIEF Minister MK Stalin on Monday told the Tamil Nadu Assembly that carbon dating of materials excavated at Mayiladumparai in Krishnagiri district has revealed that Tamils used iron ore about 4,200 years ago. Out of the 28 Accelerator Mass Spectrometry-based (AMS) dating of sites in India, this is the earliest, the Chief Minister said.

The 28 sites include Mayiladumparai in Tamil Nadu, and other excavation sites in Karnataka, Uttar Pradesh, Maharashtra, Madhya Pradesh, West Bengal and Jharkhand.

Making a suo motu statement under Rule 110, the Chief Minister said after excavations by the State Archeological Department of a habitation site located at Mayiladumparai in Krishnagiri district, two charcoal samples were sent to Beta Analytic Inc in Florida in the US for radiocarbon dating.

The Chief Minister said it has also been ascertained that black-red pottery was introduced even before 4,200 years, during the later stages of the New Stone Age.

The Chief Minister said that to prove the existence of ancient Tamil business ventures in various States, the State Department of Archeology will take up excavations at Pattanam in Kerala, Talakadu in Karnataka, Venki in Andhra Pradesh and Pallur in Odisha. A deep-sea study at Korkai, an ancient harbour belonging to the Sangam era, will also begin this month, the CM said. The history of India should commence from the Tamil landscape and the State government is working towards scientifically establishing it through evidences, he said.

Vijayanagara-era inscription found in Udupi district

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

AN inscription of Vijayanagara Dynasty ruler Immadi Devaraya was found at Mooduthonse near Kemmannu in Udupi district recently. Archeologist S A Krishnaiah and retired teacher K Sridhar Bhat guided history and archeology researcher Shruthesh Acharya in discovering this rare inscription.

The inscription is carved on granite stone and it comprises 24 lines of writing in Kannada.

The inscription begins with a shloka, 'Sri Ganadhipateye Namah'. It is dated 1431 AC-1353 'Virodhikritha Samvathsara'. During this time, Barkur was ruled by Chandarasa Odeya. Although the inscription mentions a three-day festival, it is unclear about the occasion; the inscription appears to have been gifted.

Girls to attend regular classes at Sainik School

MAHESH M GOUDAR @ Vijayapura

IN a historic step, the Sainik School Bijapur will have girl students attending regular classes on its campus from this academic year. Also, the school has got its first woman principal since its inception in 1963. Though the school started offering admission to girls from the 2020-2021 academic year, they will attend physical classes for the first time as the school was conducting online classes because of Covid-induced lockdown. At present, 18 girls are studying in Classes 7 and 8. Another 8-10 girl students are likely to be admitted in Class 6 this academic year.

"Ten per cent of the total admissions for Class 6 will be reserved for girls annually. They have to clear the entrance test," a school official told The New Indian Express.

"At present, we don't have a separate hostel and mess for girls. Construction of a separate hostel and other facilities on the premises of the school is on. We have also deputed women staff in the girl's hostel. Parents are happy with the facilities," the official added.

SC rejects nod for rly track doubling from Castle Rock to Kulem

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday set aside the clearance given by the National Board for Wildlife (NBWL) for the project of doubling the railway line from Castle Rock in Karnataka to Kulem in Goa. The top court accepted the recommendation by the court appointed Central Empowered Committee that had advised against it.

The top court, however, has said that Rail Vikas Nigam (RVNL) can carry out a detailed analysis on the impact of the proposed project on the environment impact and then submit a fresh proposal to the standing committee of the National Board for Wildlife which would then be considered in accordance with law.

The order was delivered by a division bench comprising Justice L. Nageswara Rao and Justice BR Gavai on the plea by a NGO Goa Foundation.

The Central Empowered Committee by the Supreme Court in last year April report had said it "did not find any justification in doubling the railway track from Castle Rock to Kulem as it "would destroy the fragile ecosystem of the Western Ghats, which was an internationally recognised biodiversity hotspot and also one of the most important wildlife corridors of the country".

SC says Rail Vikas Nigam can carry out analysis on project's impact on environment and submit fresh proposal

Central Empowered Committee report had added that the doubling of line "will only be marginally enhancing the capacity of the most inefficient section of the railway network passing through ecologically sensitive and biodiversity rich tiger reserve, two wildlife sanctuaries and a national park."

"...increased number of trains and wider openings through the ecologically sensitive Western Ghats for laying the track will further fragment the habitat and will make the movement of wildlife, including arboreal animals across the railway line, much more difficult and dangerous and is bound to result in thigh casualties among the wildlife", the Central Empowered Committee Report had said.

Pontoons of the dismantled floating bridge on Malpe beach | EXPRESS

Brand new floating bridge at Malpe beach partly dismantled

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

THE suspension of the operation of Karnataka's first floating bridge in Malpe beach after it partially got dismantled on Sunday due to cyclonic weather raised the question of safety aspects. The pontoon bridge made up of high density polyethylene (HDPE) snapped on Sunday night due to heavy winds and waves in the sea. The beach staff then removed the anchors of the remaining pontoon and brought it to the shore to avoid further damage.

Leaseholder of Malpe beach development activities Sudesh Shetty said anchors were dismantled to avoid further damage due to cyclonic weather. But people, especially some netizens, expressed concern over its vulnerability. The bridge was inaugurated by Udupi MLA K Raghupathi Bhat on Friday. The pontoons of the bridge were seen floating in the sea, some scattered on the seashore. It is to be seen how the officials concerned will restore the bridge, and ensure that it is safe in future for tourists. Chandrashekar, one of the three private investors for this bridge, told TNIE that three of them took a loan of Rs 25 lakh each and invested. "But it is not that everything is lost. We can reattach them and make the bridge within two days," he said.

Sudesh Shetty said that the floating bridge operation was suspended on Sunday around 3 pm after the cyclonic weather and there were no any casualties as rumour was being spread on the social media. "We have kept all water sports activities suspended from 3 pm on Sunday until further orders from the district administration. Boats to St Mary's Island will also not operate," he said. Udupi City Municipal Council Commissioner and secretary of Malpe Development Committee Uday Shetty said until further orders from the district administration, water sports activities at Malpe beach will remain suspended.

RENEWABLES ARE A LONG WAY FROM SOLVING OUR ENERGY NEEDS

The current power crisis the country is facing lays bare the ground realities of renewables and green energy initiatives. While the government has been boasting about adding more capacity —renewables' power generation capacity accounts for almost 40% with solar and wind making up 27.5% of the total—coal continues to be the backbone of the power sector accounting for more than 75% electricity generation in the country. It must be noted that coal-based plants account for only 51% of the total installed capacity of the country.

The recent power crisis due to coal shortage proves the country's dependence on the fossil fuel for its electricity needs, despite all the talk about green energy. Recently, India's biggest power generation company, NTPC, which had adopted a policy to add only green energy capacity, decided to expand its coal-fuelled power generation capacity for the first time in the past six years. Though solar and wind energy account for 27.5% of the installed capacity, their contribution to power generation remains low—around 10%.

The problem with renewables is that the state distribution companies (discoms) have shown their reluctance in signing long-term power purchasing agreements with the solar/wind firms as their tariffs kept falling. In many cases, discoms have refused to honour the agreements signed earlier at higher tariffs as rates keep coming down due to aggressive bidding by solar power companies. The Centre has not been able to find a solution to this problem, forcing a parliamentary panel to ask the government to come out with a policy paper to resolve the issue.

There are other technical reasons for the reluctance of discoms to go green at a larger scale—renewable energy (RE) forecasting is one of them. Sharp fluctuation in generation is an inherent problem with renewable sources, and discoms are yet to develop better RE forecasting capabilities to keep their operations efficient. Unless sustained and meaningful efforts are made towards resolving these issues, renewable energy sources would remain on the fringes and coal would continue to fulfil most of our power needs.

ARRESTING COVID COMEBACK IN ODISHA

A Covid cluster has raised apprehension of a fresh transmission in Odisha even as the possibility of a fourth wave amidst rising cases in the country remains a matter of concern. In the last 24 hours, two schools in Rayagada district reported 64 positive cases, taking the daily number to a two-month high. For about a month, Covid cases in the state had remained in the sub-20 level but the sudden spurt—that too in educational institutions—has the administration in a tizzy. It is so far unclear how students in such a high number contracted the virus and we do not know the strain they carry. Currently, almost all Covid curbs are off to facilitate normal life and livelihood in the state. The total active cases stand at 161 whereas the cumulative confirmed number is a little over 12.88 lakh in Odisha. The jump in cases comes when the weekly positivity rate is nearly 0.82% nationwide and the focus is back on Covid-appropriate behaviour in some northern states.

As per a mathematical model by IIT Kanpur, the fourth wave of Covid, possibly riding on a new variant, is likely to hit India in June-July and peak by the month of August. Last week, the XE variant, which combines the BA.1 and BA.2 strains of Omicron, was confirmed in the country by the Indian SARS-CoV2 Genomics Consortium (INSACOG) which, though, said very few cases of the recombinant variant has been found in the nation yet. Besides, it has not been associated with increased severity of cases or hospitalisation. For Odisha, this could be a chance to increase its surveillance and enforcement. Though all new cases have been sent for genome sequencing, the possibility of fresh transmission cannot be ruled out as educational institutions are operating at full capacity, which is where the bulk of the new infections have surfaced. Since Odisha has a history of recording its Covid peak two months after Delhi and Maharashtra, it would be prudent on part of the government to tighten the testing and monitoring measures besides imposition of mandatory masking norms in crowded places as well as enforcing them, which is currently not taking place. This could help arrest the trend and assuage any fears.

As India digs deeper into its corpus of 69,000-plus start-ups, it just might be time to decentralise the hunt and go wide and deep

BIRTHING A HUNDRED UNICORNS

HARISH BIJOOR

Brand Guru & Founder, Harish Bijoor Consults

SOUMYADIP SINHA

We had a birthing moment of significance this last week gone by. India delivered its 100th unicorn. Open, a neo-banking platform for small and medium enterprises, that raised its latest tranche of funding of $50 million, became the 100th company with a $1 billion valuation that signifies a unicorn. A moment to celebrate.

If one is to total up the valuation of our 100 unicorns, minted from day zero, which in many ways was in September 2011 with the birth of India's first, InMobi, our unicorns hold a total value of $332.7 billion today. And this valuation, in the space we are discussing, is deepening by the minute. Money in this category grows by the minute. On a normal day.

The world today has a total of 1,000 unicorns. Our 100th therefore represents a 10% share in the unicorn market for now. In terms of numbers alone of course. In terms of value, however, it's a different story.

The new contest in our lives today is the unicorn race. What's the next milestone in this race then? Possibly every additional 100 we add, and most possibly the day we reach a total valuation of $1,000 billion for our unicorns. The unicorn is a number and a value. Both count. The basic effort of every unicorn is to deepen its value. Every value deepening represents relevance and sustainability in a world that is fast-changing in its clamour for products and services that are fast going digital.

And what's the dread factor in this race, if any? The prospect of a de-unicornisation possibly. And is that possible at all? We don't seem to consider it a possibility at all for now. Not with the current frenzy. The point is clear. There are a few ideas and sectors being chased, and the clear goalpost is valuation. After all, the goal of all investment is to get better and better returns. At worst then, we will have a spate of unicorns marrying one another by volition or force. Expect this for sure.

India, at this point of writing, has a total of 69,640 start-ups. A fair number of these have built for themselves an investor backbone. Others are searching it out desperately. Every start-up is really a solution. A solution that addresses a latent problem. And each of these solve a myriad of problems. Start-ups today address as many as 65 sectors of interest in India. While the largest attention seems to be in the IT Services sector (13%), healthcare (9%), education (7%), commercial services (5%), agriculture (5%) and F&B services (5%) bring up the big chunks of sector-wise interest. Add to it niche attention across some 59 other categories and the story is complete. The start-up is a solution. A solution that aims to pluck both the low-hanging fruit of opportunity right now, and aspires to reach the higher hanging fruit later than sooner.

A quick look at the geographical dispersion of our unicorns does indicate that to date it has been a big-city game. A game that attracts the best investors from the big-city ecosystem. What gets seen gets bought into. Well at least in the early days, it seems to be that way.

As India digs deeper into its corpus of 69,000-plus start-ups, it just might be time to decentralise the hunt and go wide and deep. Into the hinterland that is India. The best start-up ideas can come from anywhere. And they do. The more nifty investor has already begun this hunt. There is a kind of inflationary pressure out here. A lot of good money is chasing very few good ideas. And sectors.

The moot question then. What then of profit? Does profit really count at all in the unicorn race? Interestingly a Tracxn Technologies number seems to point out the core fact that only 23 of our 100 unicorns have turned a profit for a full year of operations. Is that a point to worry about at all? Maybe not. In the case of many of our unicorns, it's just too early for profit. A unicorn can happen in just six months flat, as it can take all of two decades. And unicorns that happen early in their life stages as companies are really in the test-mode. Many have found money before their feet in the market even. And this is the truth to address in sorting out the solidity of our future unicorns. Our unicorns today have raised as much as $86 billion and have shown a market value of $332.7 billion for now.

> Many have found money before their feet in the market even. The unicorn is therefore not a business as yet. It is still an idea. Even as India throws up more and more unicorns from its large pool of start-ups, at the investor end, there is a kind of portfolio management approach that is necessary

The unicorn is therefore not a business as yet. Not a business in which you invest in. It is still an idea. It is not a horse as yet. It is a horse with a shiny pointed horn. The promise of a business idea that may just change the world around it. And into this promise flows every investment and every valuation blip. It is important to remember that there is profit and profitability at one end, and then there is the path to profitability that an investor is able to see clearly through his uniquely driven and uniquely blessed investors' glasses. In many ways, the unicorn of today is not at all about PE multiples and that much-touted-about EBITDA (earnings before interest, tax, depreciation and amortisation). It's the idea, silly! And if the idea is really different, really disruptive and really efficient, a business spine with all the attendant traditional metrics a good business demands will automatically fall around it seamlessly and in no time.

Even as India throws up more and more unicorns from its large pool of start-ups, at the investor end, there is a kind of portfolio management approach that is necessary. Every investment comes in at a different stage in the life cycle of the idea that becomes a corporate entity eventually. Investors of the day will need to treat every investment in their portfolio with a difference. An early-stage unicorn will need to be treated differently with more of kid gloves when it comes to the contentious issue of cash-burn and unit-sale proceeds. An older-stage company will need to be treated with a tougher view that says profit is the ultimate proof of a good and sustainable business model. Carrots for some and sticks for others. That's the name of the game of the future of investing, if not already the present.

To the Indian 'ekashringa' (unicorn) then! Cheers!

ABUNDANT OPPORTUNITIES TO WEAVE IN SILK

ANURADHA GOYAL

Author and founder of IndiTales

India is the biggest consumer of silk and the second largest producer of it. The silk industry must thank the women of India for their eternal love for the fibre as saris remain the biggest drivers of consumption. Use of silks is intricately woven into our religious and social rituals, be it our weddings or temple customs, thus ensuring a regular demand for the fabric.

While China remains the biggest producer of silk, India has its own indigenous varieties, mostly wild silk, collectively called Vanya silk. It includes Tussar silk from the Tussar Belt in states like Bihar, Jharkhand, Chhattisgarh and Bengal, Muga from Assam, and Eri from the rest of the North-east. Evidence has been found of Muga silk in jewellery excavated from the Indus Valley sites in western India, telling us about the antiquity of the silk tradition and trade in India. Even the Chinese-origin Mulberry silk is now widely grown in India, primarily the south. The Bengaluru-Mysuru belt is the silk bowl of India with the largest cocoon market in Ramanagaram.

With limited production and huge aspiration value, silk has been a mark of luxury since historical times, that everyone dreams to be wrapped in. It has been used for all kinds of luxury products, be it for wearing or decorative items.

Silk fibre is pure protein that is secreted by the caterpillar of the silk moth or silkworm. In fact, the worms themselves are treated as delicacies to be enjoyed in silk-growing tribal areas. Many tribes value these worms more than the silk thread of the cocoon. Pure protein opens up many opportunities with silk besides the traditional textiles. Medicine and cosmetics immediately come to our mind, besides the growing protein-based food industry. You can easily look up silk-protein infused shampoos, conditioners and soaps.

Bio-medical uses of the fibre include its use as suture material for surgeries as the silk thread is known for its natural strength, stable thermal properties and is biodegradable. The silk protein's molecular structure is similar to the collagen fibres of our skin. Sericin and fibroin are the two extracts from silk protein used in skincare products. Sericin, known for its antioxidant properties, is used for providing a protective layer that helps retain the moisture while fibroin helps repair any damaged skin cells. Sericin is the primary ingredient in healing and haircare products.

The healing of wounds is another area where silk proteins are being successfully used. Sericin, as the glue that binds the silk thread at the cocoon stage, is in fact a by-product of the silk production process. Silk proteins also contribute to many bio-materials for a wide range of uses.

Even within the textile domain, there are opportunities to experiment with new weaves like silk denim, woven using the silk thread. It can be a whole range of smart casuals for work and casual wear, which combines the comfort of denim with softness of silk. There are many other weaves and patterns that you can see at fashion institutes and fashion shows. It would take some entrepreneurs to make them mainstream products and businesses. Due to its natural strength, silk fabric is used as material for parachutes, hot air balloons and in precision machinery products. However, there are many more such uses possible for this natural material.

> Silk is a traditional sector but there are also opportunities for tech entrepreneurs. The cocoon markets are already digitised with all auctions happening online, but there are still spaces to plug with automation. There is a need for dependable authentication and verification technology as fake silk is widely sold

Silk has thermal properties that keeps it cool in summers and warm in winters, making it a textile for all weathers. Using this creatively, upholstery, furnishings and light woollens designer can use silk effectively. It is also well suited for kids' products that insulate infants from weather changes with the natural softness of silk. Socks and other products made using knitted fibre from Eri silk thread are better suited to handle body odour.

With the temporary pause that the pandemic has put on the Chinese silk sector, it is a great opportunity for the Indian industry to ramp up its production of the raw fibre and reduce our dependence on imports. Efforts are being made to increase the production of more popular Mulberry silk. By promoting silk farming, the base of indigenous silks can also be expanded. Eri silkworms feed on castor leaves, which are found abundantly in many regions of India, though production is primarily concentrated in the Northeast as of now. Being a small-scale cottage industry dominated by women, it can be scaled up with a bit of awareness, training and support.

Silk is a traditional sector but there are also opportunities for tech entrepreneurs. The cocoon markets are already digitised with all auctions happening online, but there are still spaces to plug with automation—such as end-to-end supply chain automation. There is a need for dependable authentication and verification technology as fake silk is widely sold with names like art silk or semi silk.

Overall, it is the right time to work on increasing the supply of raw silk, designing innovative products using the fibre, and infusing this ancient tradition into our lifestyle while leveraging the digital platforms. What you can do with this lustrous fabric is just limited by your own imagination!

Kejriwal no different

This is with reference to the editorial Method behind the three-states arrest madness (May 9). Delhi chief minister Arvind Kejriwal gave the impression that he was a politician who was above politics. It is clear from his high-handed use of Punjab Police that he is no different.

Drugs in Kerala

That more than 8,000 narcotic cases have been registered over four months in Kerala is indeed disturbing (May 9). Many cases would have gone unnoticed and the actual number of consumers of drugs would be alarmingly high. School and college students are the most targeted. It is good to hear that the police are now after the peddlers, the root cause of drug abuse. Strict punishment including even death penalty should be considered for the masterminds behind the narcotics trade.

TN scheme laudable

The nutritious breakfast scheme introduced by Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M K Stalin for students in Classes 1 to 5 in government schools is laudable. It is remarkable that the already existing noon meal scheme and the present initiative will provide two free meals to young school children. Added to this, Stalin has also announced medical assistance to the kids in the schools to take care of any deficiency. The CM deserves all kudos.

Shutting down dissent

This is with reference to the report Good Lord! Centre in defence of sedition law (May 9). There is hardly any element of surprise in the Central government vociferously defending the law. It has turned into a handy tool for it to clamp down on dissent in any form and to book all those who do not toe the government line. On several occasions, courts have passed strictures against the Central and state governments for misusing the act. The law is a worthless relic, a part of the legacy left behind by our colonial masters. It is now up to the courts to take a decision in the matter as the misuse is bound to continue.

Behind the veil

It is distressing to hear that the Taliban in Afghanistan has issued a directive to women in the country to cover fully in public, including their faces, or stay indoors (May 9). My heart goes out to Afghan women who are humiliated and effectively imprisoned. How can the civilised world recognise the Taliban regime?

'Many vying to install bhopus; let's focus on development'

Minority Affairs Minister Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi describes the eight years of Modi regime as 'the golden period' for minorities in India, bats for Uniform Civil Code

MUKHTAR Abbas Naqvi, who is the lone Muslim face in the Union cabinet as Minority Affairs Minister, describes the eight years of the Modi regime as "the golden period" for the minorities in India, with volumes of development works being taken up for their benefit. Naqvi, who serves as the Deputy Leader of the House in the Rajya Sabha, says the Uniform Civil Code (UCC) needs to be implemented in India and dismisses suggestions that it curtails the religious rights of any community.

In an interview with Rajesh Kumar Thakur, Naqvi said: "India is the only country in the world where followers of all the religions live together enjoying complete religious freedom and constitutional rights. But some Modi-bashing brigades are hell-bent upon defaming the country and the Prime Minister through fear-mongering amongst the minority communities". Excerpts:

How do you feel about being the only Muslim minister in the Modi government?
My josh is as high as ever. I've never felt uncomfortable in the BJP. The Opposition is totally opposed to every idea of empowerment to the minorities. Opposition leaders want to keep the minorities in a state of fright through fear mongering. I find myself blessed with BJP's political ideology under the leadership of the most trusted, most accepted and most admired global leader (PM) Narendra Modi.

Verbatim

Why doesn't the BJP offer party tickets to more people from minority communities in elections?
The party does not believe in the politics of tokenism. The Congress gave tickets to many Muslims. However, the Sachar Committee report gave a lie to Congress claims on 'secularism'. Merely offering a party ticket is not a sign of being a well-wisher of a minority section. The BJP and the PM are genuinely concerned about bringing the minorities in the mainstream of development.

What'd you say about the loudspeakers row?
Look, a kind of competition is on to install more and more 'bhopu' (loudspeakers). In Uttar Pradesh, the removal of loudspeakers is in tune with a law on noise pollution. Such a law already existed. Yogi ji (UP Chief Minister) had first got the loudspeakers of Gorakhnath temple removed. I think there should not be any politics in it. Some people in politics see a threat in everything. These are the people engaged in communal conspiracy, wearing a cloak of secularism.

Don't you see the loudspeaker row turning into a political agenda?
The loudspeaker issue cannot be a political agenda. The agenda should be employment, development, people-oriented politics and current issues. The removal of loudspeakers should not be used to vitiate social and communal harmony.

The Centre is planning to implement Uniform Civil Code (UCC)?
We speak only about constitutional rights; no one speaks about constitutional duties. We are celebrating 75 years of Independence but we have forgotten to speak about constitutional duties. The Constitution enshrines that the 'government of the day' should attempt to move towards UCC. I am happy that a national debate has started on the UCC. The UCC is in vogue in more than 40 countries, including in the UK and the US. There shouldn't be any attempt to mislead minorities.

How would you react to hate speeches being made in some parts of the country?
Some people are engaged full-time in fanning hatred to malign the government image. After 2014, the Modi bashing brigades have not succeeded. These groups have now disguised themselves in new forms and become 'Bharat-Virodhi.' I think a mature country will never allow such defeated players to disturb harmony.

When will Pak Ooccupied Kashmir return to us?
We have a unanimous decision of Parliament that PoK is an integral part of India. It is the commitment of Parliament to have it back. Sahi waqt ke sath ye pura ho jayega (it will be fulfilled at the right time).

Why don't India's relations with Pakistan improve?
In Pakistan, the 'kathmulavad' (dominance of religious heads) rules the roost. They don't want to be on good terms with India. Pakistan has become a haven for terrorism, causing serious concern for India and the world. India maintains zero tolerance against terrorism. Pakistan must stop it to improve relations with India. Pakistan should have to be sincere.

How do you take abrogation of Article 370 in J&K?
It was a belated though much-needed move. After the removal of Article 370 from J&K, the people have started enjoying their participation in development works. The people of J&K are happy with the end of some 'khandani' (dynastic) parties. Terrorism is almost checked, exception in few areas. The Kashmir people's political participation has also increased. Overall, the nexus of separatists and terrorists has ended.

Has the government support for Haj increased?
Modi-bashers should know that 79,237 Muslims are going for Haj this year, half of them women. More than 1,800 women will go to Haj without 'mehram' (male companions).

IndiGo bars teen with special needs: DGCA to probe

NCPCR tells cops to book airline,

The National Commission for Protection of Child Rights has asked the Jharkhand Police on Monday to lodge an FIR against IndiGo for barring a specially-abled child from boarding a flight at the Ranchi airport. In a letter to Ranchi SSP, NCPCR Chairperson Priyank Kanoongo requested him to launch an inquiry and lodge an FIR as there was prima facie violation of Section 7 of the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act, which is cognizable in nature. He asked for an action-taken report to be submitted to the panel within seven days of receipt of the letter. Kanoongo also wrote to the DGCA seeking necessary action against the private airline and its manager. ENS

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

THE Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) will conduct an enquiry against IndiGo for denying a differently-abled teenager to board its flight at Ranchi airport, even as the airline came out with a statement regretting the May 7 incident.

A three-member team will visit Ranchi and Hyderabad to collect evidence within one week, DGCA chief Arun Kumar said. "We have received a report from the airline. However, in view of the facts and circumstances described therein, we have decided to conduct a fact-finding enquiry which shall be done by a team from DGCA," Kumar said. Earlier in the day, Union Civil Aviation Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia condemned the airline's decision, saying such behaviour cannot be tolerated. The incident came to light after some passengers posted a video on social media on Sunday. In a tweet, Scindia asserted that he was personally looking into the matter.

As the video went viral, IndiGo CEO Ronojoy Dutta expressed regret and offered to present an electric wheelchair for the teenager. He added that his airline staff took the best possible decision under difficult circumstances. "All of us at IndiGo are truly distressed by this incident. Since April, we have carried over 75,000 specially-abled passengers aboard our airline. Our crew and airport staff are trained to serve such passengers sensitively... at the boarding area, the teenager was visibly in panic", the airline said.

China wants to keep boundary issue alive: Gen

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

ARMY Chief Gen Manoj Pande on Monday doubted China's intentions towards resolution of LAC issues, which he said, meant keeping the boundary issue alive. He said the resolution of the prevailing standoff in eastern Ladakh is his top challenge.

"The basic issue remains the resolution of the border issues. What we see is that China's intention has been to keep the boundary issue alive. What we need as a country is a 'whole of nation' approach. In the military domain, this is to prevent and counter any attempt to alter the status quo at the LAC," said Gen Pande.

Terming the ongoing talks and engagements "good", Gen Pande said the corps commanders of the two countries have been able to resolve many friction areas. The remaining areas, he said, could only be resolved through dialogue.

China deployed its troops after a clash with the Indian soldiers in May 2020 at Finger 4 on the north bank of the Pangong Lake in eastern Ladakh. Both sides have deployed around 60,000 troops along with heavy weaponry. The standoff at Depsang, Hot Spring and Demchok continues.

"The first and foremost challenge is the resolution of the situation along borders prevailing since April/May 2020. Our aim and intention is to restore the status quo ante. Our intention is also to re-establish the trust and tranquillity on both sides," said the Army Chief.

The Army's focus has been on upgrading intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance capabilities and building infrastructure, he said.

On the geopolitical and geostrategic impacts of the Russia-Ukraine conflict, the Indian Army feels that it has important lessons to draw. "Not only we will have to keep an eye on the emerging world order but also see that the focus doesn't shift from issues like Afghanistan and the Indo-Pacific which impact us," said Gen Pande.

"The lesson has come out loud and clear. In the cyber domain, we have seen the battle of narratives being used to gain advantage. We need to increasingly focus on new domains of warfare, focus on capability development," said Gen Pande.

Beijing wants fair inquiry into Xiaomi matter

NEW DELHI: a guarded reaction to the ED probe against top executives of Xiaomi, China on Monday expressed hope that India will provide a fair environment to its companies.

China is closely following reports on threats of physical violence and coercion faced by the country's business executives in India, its foreign ministry spokesperson tweeted. The Chinese government asks its companies to abide by laws and regulations overseas, but at the same time firmly supports them in protecting their lawful rights and interests, he said.

"We hope the Indian side can provide a fair, just and non-discriminatory business environment for Chinese companies operating in India and conduct investigation in accordance with laws and regulations to increase investors' confidence," he added. ENS

PENSION FOR CANCER PATIENTS IN HARYANA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chandigarh

HARYANA Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar announced monthly pension for the patients suffering from Stage III and IV Cancer, thalassaemia and haemophilia. He said that cancer treatment would be made free under the Ayushman Bharat Yojana, under which hospitalisation cost up to ₹5 lakh would be borne by the state government.

He made the announcement during the inauguration of a tertiary care cancer centre named after former prime minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee, built at a cost of ₹72 crore in Ambala Cantonment, by BJP's national president JP Nadda on Monday.

Khattar said about 28,000 cancer patients visit Haryana every year from states like Punjab, Himachal and Uttarakhand. The Atal Cancer Care Centre, set up at the Civil Hospital in Ambala, will help in getting accessible, affordable and comprehensive treatment to such patients not only from Haryana but also from neighbouring states. His government is working on the mantra of 'Sarve Bhavantu Sukhinah', Khattar said.

PAK HINDUS GO BACK, SWAMY BLASTS GOVT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

BJP Rajya Sabha MP Subramanian Swamy, a detractor of the Modi government, on Monday said it was a "shame that Hindu victims of human rights violations by the Pakistan government" had gone back "heartbroken" across India's western borders.

He was reacting to recent media reports that about 800 Pakistani Hindus, who had earlier crossed over to Rajasthan seeking Indian citizenship, returned to the neighbouring country in 2021 once they found no governmental efforts were made on their citizenship application. This was brought to light by Seemant Lok Sangathan, an advocacy group that champions the rights of Pakistani migrants of minority origins in India.

"What a shame for our BJP Union Government that Hindu victims of human rights violation y Pak Govt... hoping to become Indian citizens have been betrayed by non action of Modi Govt on CAA, and so have gone back heartbroken to Pakistan," Swamy tweeted. As on December 2021, 7,306 citizenship applications from Pakistan were pending with the home ministry.

Supreme Court stays higher court proceedings challenging IT Rules

PRATHMA SHARMA @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday stayed proceedings pending before various high courts in cases involving challenges to the Information Technology (Intermediary Guidelines and Digital Media Ethics Code) Rules-2021 or the Cable Television Networks (Amendment) Rules-2021.

A two-judge bench headed by Justice A M Khanwilkar stayed the proceedings while hearing a cluster of petitions — including those raising the issue of hate speech and seeking regulations for OTT (over-the-top) platforms — and issued notice to various parties on the Central government's plea seeking transfer of all the cases to the Supreme Court.

The bench, however, did not stay the interim orders already passed by the high courts regarding the matter.

The court will now hear the pleas on May 19.

Several online news portals such as the Leaflet and Live Law, among others, have challenged the IT Rules-2021.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, appearing for the Centre, told the bench that there are several petitions in the matter pending before the apex court.

Some high courts have stayed the statutory regulations and the Centre has filed special leave petitions (SLPs) against those orders, he said, requesting the bench to consider granting a stay so far as transfer petitions are concerned so that no further orders are passed.

The top court noted in its order that the Solicitor General has assured to prepare a chart of cases involving a challenge to the IT Rules, and petitions generally seeking directions for evolving a mechanism which would be touching upon the subject matter.

The bench also noted that it was urged before it that since the new IT Rules-2021 have come into force, some of the petitions pending before it may not survive for further consideration.

It said the other set of cases involves pleas raising the issue of hate speeches and hate crimes would be listed separately on May 19.

Don't criticise to demoralise, Sonia at CWC

ENS @ New Delhi

WITH the differences within the party leadership out in the open, Congress president Sonia Gandhi on Monday sought unity and cooperation in the party. This is the second time in a month that the Congress chief is pleading that differences be set aside for the common good. Gandhi said self-criticism is fine but it should not be done to the extent of eroding self-confidence and morale. She was addressing the Congress Working Committee (CWC) meeting.

Setting the stage for the Chintan Shivir (brainstorming session) in Udaipur from May 13 to 15, she also called upon members to repay their "debt to the party". During her address, Gandhi sought full cooperation in ensuring that the single overriding message that goes forth loud and clear from Udaipur is one of unity, cohesion, determination and commitment to our party's accelerated revival.

"There are no magic wands. It is only with selfless work, discipline and a sense of consistent collective purpose that we will demonstrate our tenacity and resilience," she said.

The prime focus of the Chintan Shivir, being held after a gap of nine years, is the party's preparation for the 2024 Lok Sabha polls.

Arunachal town looks to break Covid silence

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT
@ Pangsau Pass (Arunachal Pradesh)

ONCE a bustling shopping arcade, the Pangsau Pass market on the crest of the Patkai hills along the India-Myanmar border in the Changlang district of Arunachal Pradesh lies deserted today. The famous retail hub has been closed since February 2020 due to Covid. Now, the town is buzzing as the market is going to be opened soon on popular demand.

Overlooking two World War II sites, the market, dissected by neat wooden rows, has not only been a major draw for locals and tourists but also has been a significant trading point between India and Myanmar.

"I think it is time to open it," announced Arunachal's Deputy Chief Minister Chowna Mein. "Locals have given me a memorandum to open the market to resume the economic activities, which is their only lifeline," said Mein as he flagged off a motor expedition passing through the state's scenic wonders, on May 5.

Abu Tayeng, director of Arunachal Tourism, said the market, located at 3,727 feet (1,136 m) above sea level, offers the locals on both sides of the border (India and Myanmar) the opportunity to display and sell their products and also a chance to witness and understand each other's culture. "Such haats are also beneficial for bilateral relationships," Tayeng told this newspaper.

The Pangsau Pass market feeds Myanmar, where Indian food items and fruits have high demand as they cost less.

For the locals, the resumption of trade and travel with Myanmar is a matter of survival. "We met CM Pema Khandu and urged him to open the market as it's the only source of livelihood for locals," said Khimshom Mossang, zilla parishad member. "We also want restrictions to be lifted by the Assam Rifles so that the state can develop."

NIA raids locations linked to D-Company in Mumbai

Dawood's alleged associate Salim Fruit among detained by agency

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

Salim Fruit being detained by the NIA after raids in Mumbai on Monday | PTI

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA) on Monday morning began a series of raids at 29 premises allegedly linked to gangster Dawood Ibrahim, his associates and a few hawala operators in Mumbai.

The raids are being conducted in Nagpada, Goregaon, Borivali, Santacruz, Mumbra, Bhendi Bazar, and other locations in the city.

Officials said Dawood's associate Salim Fruit was detained amid the raids, and some "important documents" were retrieved from his residence.

The agency picked up Salim Qureshi, husband of Chhota Shakeel's sister-in-law, from his residence in Bhendi Bazar area of south Mumbai, and also detained Sohail Khandwani, the trustee of the Haji Ali Dargah and Mahim Dargah, from his residence in Mahim area.

A team of NIA officials also searched Khandwani's Mahim-based office, and questioned a number of people, including builder Aslam Soratia and beef exporter Fareed Qureshi.

Some other people residing in Bandra and Mahim areas were also questioned, the officials added.

According to officials the raids are under way at 'multiple locations" in the Mumbai Metropolitan area. Earlier, the NIA had registered a case under criminal conspiracy and UAPA sections against Dawood Ibrahim Kaskar alias Dawood Bhai, his brother Haji Anees alias Anees Ibrahim Shaikh, Shakeel Shaikh alias Chhota Shakeel, Javed Patel alias Javed Chikna, Ibrahim Mushtaq Abdul Razzaq Memon alias Tiger Memon among others.

The agency claimed that Dawood, after he left India, started controlling criminal activities here through his close associates and relatives. Dawood and Tiger Memon are the key accused in the 1993 Mumbai bomb blast case.

The Central agency also conducted a search at the residence of bookie-turned-builder Ajay Gosalia in Borivali area in the metropolitan city.

LADAKH STATEHOOD

Cold desert set for heated agitation

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE cold desert of Ladakh is poised for a hot political summer after the Leh Apex Body and Kargil Democratic Alliance (KDA) announced an agitation from June 1 seeking statehood with legislature and constitutional guarantees to the Union Territory.

Ladakh Apex Body (LAB) leader Chering Dorje Labrook told this newspaper that they have been waiting in vain for an invitation from the Central government for talks.

"We were expecting that the Centre would invite both LAB and KDA for talks in New Delhi to listen to our charter of demands and announce a mechanism to fulfill it. However, nothing of this sort has happened, and there was no fruitful follow-up to our meeting with Home Minister Amit Shah in New Delhi last year," he said.

Labrook said LAB chairman and former MP Thupstan Chewang and others would stage a dharna on June 1 in Leh. "We will contact the KDA leadership and jointly launch the agitation to press for fulfillment of all our genuine demands," he said.

Notably, the talk of agitation by LAB marks a total turnaround for the Leh district, which had celebrated the removal of Article 370 and bifurcation of J&K state into two UTs – Jammu and Kashmir (with legislature) and Ladakh (without legislature) on August 5, 2019.

The LAB and KDA are demanding statehood with legislature, constitutional safeguards under the 6th Schedule to protect jobs and land, separate Lok Sabha seats for Kargil and Leh districts, a Rajya Sabha seat for the region and filling of vacant posts by recruiting locals.

KDA co-chairman Qamar Ali Akhoon said the leadership of the alliance would be meeting soon and they would evolve a strategy with LAB. "Whatever we will do, it will be jointly carried out by LAB and KDA," he said.

SIMULTANEOUS STIRS PLANNED

The Ladakh UT comprises two districts – Buddhist-dominated Leh and Muslim dominated Kargil. The agitation will be launched simultaneously in Leh and Kargil. Both the LAB and KDA are involved in mobilising people for the proposed agitation

Gupkar parties are likely to contest poll despite opposition to delimitation report

Delimitation: Parties plan united protest in Jammu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Srinagar

AFTER the Gupkar Alliance in Kashmir, Valley-based National Conference and PDP along with some other political parties and social groups have joined hands under the banner of All Parties United Morcha (APUM) to launch a joint struggle in Jammu region against the recently released J&K delimitation report.

The APUM comprises Congress, NC, PDP, CPIM, CPI, Statehood Mission, Sikh Intellectual Forum, Deshbhagat Yadgar Committee and IDP.

The leaders of the parties and the social groups met in Jammu on Monday and decided to agitate against the Delimitation Commission report.

Meanwhile, despite their reservations on the delimitation, all political parties in J&K have already made it clear that they would be contesting the Assembly polls.

Stating that the delimitation report stood against the basic norms of geographical realities, population, compactness, contiguity, connectivity and public convenience, the leaders of APUM it "highly biased and politically motivated" at the behest of the BJP.

The leaders said APUM would be staging a silent sit-in in front of the Election Commission office in Jammu.

Praise for Mann & PK: Which way unpredictable Sidhu will turn next?

I came here to sort out the problems faced by Punjab. Mann has no ego. I didn't feel like I met a CM. He is more down to earth than before. We spoke about law and order, financial emergency, drug problem and the nexus between drug smugglers and the police

Sources close to the PK-team claimed Sidhu may join hands with the strategist in heralding a "Jan Surraj" movement. Kishor has announced a 3,000-km-long Padytra from October 2 after taking a resolve to bring 'People's Governance", at the Gandhi Ashram in West Champaran

HARPREET BAJWA & RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ Chandigarh/New Delhi

AMID his political future in the Congress hanging in balance, former Punjab party chief Navjot Singh Sidhu on Monday met Chief Minister Bhagwant Singh Mann at the Civil Secretariat in Chandigarh.

Sidhu was all praise for the Aam Aadmi Party leader after their 50-minute meeting, saying that Mann is "very receptive, listens, down to earth and has no ego".

The cricketer-turned-politician said: "I came here to sort out the problems faced by Punjab. Mann has no ego. I didn't feel like I met a chief minister. He is the same as he was 15 years ago or six months before. He is more down to earth."

Sidhu's meeting with Mann came days after he called the latter a "rubber doll", alluding to the Opposition charge that the state government was being run by the AAP leadership from Delhi. Terming the meeting as "positive", Sidhu said, "We spoke about law and order, financial emergency, drug problem and the nexus between smugglers and the police."

Sidhu claimed he suggested Mann that money to the tune of ₹25,000 crore to ₹30,000 crore could be generated from the liquor sector. "I used to give the same suggestions when our government was in power, but nobody listened," he said.

Meanwhile, there is a buzz that the former cricketer might join hands with election strategist Prashant Kishor who is planning to chart his own political course. After Kishor announced his plan to embark on a padyatra in Bihar in October, Sidhu had tweeted ecstatically. "Had a wonderful meeting with my old friend PK... Old wine, Old gold and Old friends still the best!!!"

He had tagged a picture of himself with PK with the tweet, sparking speculations in the political circles.

Sources close to PK's team claimed Sidhu may join hands with the strategist in heralding a "Jan Surraj" movement in the country, starting from Bihar. "Even though Bihar doesn't have a big population of Sikhs, PK would like to bring Sidhu on board to pull crowd," a source said.

Arun Kumar Pandey, a political analyst in Bihar, felt PK might be trying to bring in Sidhu eyeing the considerable Sikh voters in Patna. "But Sidhu does not hold a stronger political influence among the Sikh population in Bihar, where caste equations still plays a big role in politics," Pandey said.

Hardik clear in all cases, except one on sedition

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Ahmedabad

GOOD news for Congress working president and Patidar leader Hardik Patel. The sessions court on Monday approved the Gujarat government's revision petition withdrawing a case against 20 people, including Patel, during the Patidar agitation in 2015.

That means Patel and his associates are cleared in all cases except one involving sedition, as per chief public prosecutor Sudhir Brahmbhatt.

A local court had earlier rejected the government application for withdrawal of a vandalism case at Ramol police station in Ahmedabad, citing the attitude of the accused and public interest.

The Gujarat government then filed a revision petition in the sessions court against the order of the metropolitan court arguing that under Article 321 of the Constitution, the government has the right to withdraw a case.

The state government had announced that instructions have been issued to withdraw 10 cases against members of the Patidar Anamat Andolan Samiti (PAAS) during the 2015 agitation.

CONFUSION IN CONG OVER TWO TRIBAL EVENTS ON SAME DAY

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

AMID intensified efforts by both BJP and AAP to chip away the tribal vote bank of Congress, the grand old party has found itself mired in confusion after the party's tribal committee chairman planned a rally on the day Rahul Gandhi attending a tribal event in the state.

Congress Tribal committee chairman and Vansda MLA Anant Patel will be heading a rally on Tuesday even as Rahul is scheduled to attend an 'Adivasi Satyagrah' in Dahod on the same day. Notably, both events are being held eying the tribal voters. Patel's rally is being held far from Dahod, in protest against the Par-Tapil-Narmada project.

With two programmes happening on the same day, a section of party leaders expressed worries about its impact on the voters. "If the chairman of the tribal committee is working in a different direction, it will send out a wrong message," a Congress leader said. "If Rahul is coming, then why there is a need for another programme of the tribal community on the same day," he wondered.

However, Patel justified the move. "Our programme was already decided. Earlier, we had to cancel a rally due to another Congress event. Now, if we cancel our programme for the second time, it will have a negative impact," the tribal leader said.

Congress spokesperson Manish Doshi said Patel's rally is being organised with the consent of entire leadership. "Our fight is against the BJP government and to get justice to the tribals. Patel is organising the rally with the consent of the entire Congress."

GRAND OLD PARTY LOSES 2 MORE NETAS AS POLL NEARS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Ahmedabad

WITH election round the corner, the inflow of Congress leaders to saffron camp continues in Gujarat. Latest in the row is former MLA Vasant Bhatol who joined the BJP on Monday.

Bhatol was in the saffron camp before the 2012 Assembly election. He joined the Congress in that year after he was denied ticket by the party. After joining the BJP, Vasant Bhatol told the media that it was "natural to make a mistake. BJP is my mother organization which has given me motherly love. The party gave me an identity and today I am returning home".

Bhatol was welcomed the saffron camp by party state president CR Patil. "BJP workers have made a great contribution to the progress of the country. Thank you for correcting the mistake made by me and thank you for taking me back to the party. I have returned to the party without any condition and I will fulfill the tasks given by the party with full responsibility," the turncoat leader said.

Political analyst Mani Lal Patel said the saffron party is likely to benefit from Bhatol's youth network in north Gujarat. "It is important to note that Congress has a very good grip on north Gujarat and it is because of this the BJP has taken back Bhatol," he said.

Meanwhile, Congress leader Shweta Brahmbhatt, who had contested from Maninagar constituency, quit the party on the same day. She had met PM Modi in Gandhinagar on April 18 when the latter had visited the state. She is likely to join the BJP soon.

'Nijaat' drive in 30 best smart policing practice

Campaign 'Nijaat' ('riddance' in Urdu), in a quest to achieve a drug-free society launched in Koriya district by the then superintendent of police Santosh Singh has been selected among the 30 best practices on smart policing by the Union Home Ministry's agency 'Bureau of Police Research & Development' (BPRD). A drive to wipe out illicit drugs and bootlegging while preventing its smuggling or trading has proven itself as practice that can be replicated in other vulnerable regions or districts of the country. The three-pronged strategy worked: tough action against businesses of narcotics, public awareness and lastly the support extended in counselling and rehabilitation.

Heli ride for board exam toppers gets tepid response

The announcement by Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel to reward toppers of class X and XII board examinations with a helicopter ride has got mixed response. While there were appreciations of such an offer by the CM, many came up with their own reactions. While the CM felt the announcement will motivate the students to secure their dream of academic pursuit in schools, some questioned how the chopper ride was going to build the future of the students. "If there is a unique reward set for our students, then it will lead to instil inspiration in their desire to succeed," he said. The suggestions included life-long free education to toppers or to ensure quality school education, etc.

Human-computer interface for visually-impaired

Visually-impaired people can now operate the computer without any assistance following the invention of a human computer interface application by the International Institute of Technology, Nava Raipur. Under the given support the user speaks anything will be converted into text and the app will help to search based on user requirements. The new invention provides a system and a method for real-time learning by visually-impaired students through speech characteristics based on collected voice data. The application has a two-way communication process which means the application even asks the user so as to provide the best outputs.

Ranas to get notice again

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

A special court here on Monday issued notices to independent MP Navneet Rana and her husband Ravi Rana asking why non-bailable warrants shouldn't be issued against them for violating the bail conditions.

Special court judge R N Rokade issued the notices after he was informed that the couple violated the bail condition by speaking to the media about their case.

The judge had granted bail to the couple observing that even if the comment made by them were objectionable, it would not amount to sedition. "The applicants shall not address the press on any of the subjects which relate to this case," the bail order had stated.

However, after bail was granted, Navneet Rana spoke to the media.

Gyanvapi: 'No petitioner will withdraw from case'

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE petitioners who had approached a Varanasi court seeking permission for daily worship at Maa Shringar Gauri Sthal on the Gyanvapi Mosque premises have said that they would not withdraw their petition.

While four of the five women petitioners said they would not withdraw the case, the fifth petitioner also denied having withdrawn the petition.

Advocate Shivam Gaur, representing petitioner Rakhi Singh, said his client would not withdraw her name from the petition. He, however, added that one of the five petitions had to be amended.

Vishwa Vaidik Sanatan Sangh chief Jitendra Singh Vishen, whose organisation had backed the original plea by the five women, on Sunday claimed the outfit would withdraw the petition on Monday.

Sources close to the outfit, however, said that the outfit never intended to withdraw from the case and that there was some confusion on Sunday. After the announcement started doing the rounds on social media, the four petitioners — Manju Vyas, Sita Sahu, Lakshmi Devi and Rekha Pathak — appeared before the media in Varanasi and said that the case would not be withdrawn.

Meanwhile, the hearing in the petition filed by the mosque management committee, seeking removal of court-appointed Advocate Commissioner Ajay Kumar Mishra, has been deferred by local court (senior division) judge Ravi Kumar Diwakar to May 10.

RAPE CHARGE

Raj govt defends minister's son

JAIPUR: Amid an escalating war of words between the ruling Congress and BJP, Rajasthan Water Resources Minister Mahesh Joshi on Monday expressed his ignorance about the rape charge against his son Rohit Joshi, saying he heard about it only in the media.

The minister maintained that "truth would prevail following investigations into the case" that has triggered a political row between the Gehlot-led Congress government and the opposition BJP.

In an interaction with the media in Jaipur, the minister said, "I know only what the media is saying. I don't have any idea other than this." He urged the media not to jump to conclusions. Amid the BJP attack on the Gehlot government, the Congress has defended the minister's son, saying that merely registration of an FIR did not make anyone guilty. ENS

Unparalleled economic turmoil turns tsunami for Mahinda Rajapaksa

COLOMBO

MAHINDA Rajapaksa, the wily 76-year-old patriarch of the powerful Rajapaksa clan, was once known as Sri Lanka's man for all seasons, but the unprecedented anti-government protests triggered by the island nation's unprecedented economic turmoil turned out to be a tsunami that forced him to resign as the prime minister.

Two-time former president Mahinda Rajapaksa, who suffered a crushing defeat in the presidential elections in 2015, returned to power in 2020 after deadly Easter terror attacks that killed 270 and put many Sri Lankans on edge about the country's security.

His newly-formed Sri Lanka People's Party (SLPP) scripted history by becoming the political party with the shortest life span to gain absolute power in the island nation's political history.

The powerful Rajapaksa family tightened their grip on power after their party's massive victory in the general elections in August 2020 that allowed them to amend the Constitution to restore presidential powers and install close family members at key positions.

Mahinda, who crushed the Tamil Tigers in a brutal military campaign, assumed the role of prime minister, becoming the premier for the fourth time in his career. Mahinda, a veteran street-fighter politician, entered Parliament when he was just 24, becoming the youngest lawmaker. After losing the seat in 1977, he reentered Parliament in 1989.

He served as labour minister (1994-2001) and minister of fisheries and aquatic resources (1997-2001) under President Chandrika Kumaratunga, who appointed him as prime minister after the general election of April 2004.

He was chosen as the Sri Lanka Freedom Party's presidential nominee in November 2005. Shortly after his victory in the election, Mahinda announced his intention to crush the LTTE.

Ending the nearly 30-year-long bloody civil war with the LTTE, where all his predecessors had failed, Mahinda became a hero and used it to return to power with a thumping win in 2010, leading to political analysts labelling him "a man with a midas touch."

His domestic popularity appeared to wane during 2014 because of rising prices and concerns of corruption and abuse of power. As the president, Mahinda concluded several key infrastructure deals with China. Critics say it was due to Mahinda that the country has fallen into the "Chinese debt trap". Eventually, it was the economic crisis that put paid to his tenure as the prime minister. PTI

HOW THE CRISIS UNFOLDED

The island nation of 22 million people is experiencing acute shortages of food, fuel and other essentials, a crisis that has inflicted widespread misery and triggered weeks of mass demonstrations. The South Asian country emerged from a devastating civil war in 2009 only to be rocked by Islamist bombings in 2019, before being hit hard the following year by the Covid pandemic which torpedoed its vital tourism sector.

MARCH 31
Hundreds of protesters, rallied by unidentified social media activists, try to storm the home of President Gotabaya Rajapaksa, demanding his resignation.

APRIL 1
As protests spread, Rajapaksa declares a state of emergency, giving security forces sweeping powers to arrest and detain suspects.

APRIL 2
Sri Lanka declares a 36-hour nationwide curfew and deploys troops.

APRIL 3
Almost all of Sri Lanka's cabinet resigns at a late-night meeting, leaving Rajapaksa and his brother and PM Mahinda isolated.

APRIL 4
Gotabaya offers to share power with the opposition under a unity administration led by him and Mahinda, but is rebuffed. The governor of the central bank also resigns

APRIL 5
President Rajapaksa's problems deepen as FM Ali Sabry resigns just a day after he was appointed. Soon after losing his parliamentary majority, he lifts the state of emergency.

APRIL 9
Tens of thousands march on the president's office in the biggest protest to date, demanding that Rajapaksa resign.

APRIL 10
Sri Lanka's doctors say they are nearly out of life-saving medicines, warning that the crisis could end up killing more than the coronavirus pandemic.

APRIL 12
The country announces it is defaulting on its external debt of $51 billion as a "last resort" after running out of foreign exchange to import desperately needed goods.

APRIL 18
The president unveils a new government, ousting two of his brothers and a nephew but keeping on his eldest brother Mahinda as PM.

APRIL 19
The police kill a protester, the first casualty of several weeks of anti-government protests.

APRIL 28
A general strike brings the country to a standstill.

MAY 6
After a second such strike, Rajapaksa declares another state of emergency. The police step up security around lawmakers from the ruling party.

MAY 9
Mahinda resigns as PM after violent clashes between his supporters and anti-government protesters.

NO END IN SIGHT FOR UKRAINE WAR AS PUTIN CELEBRATES VICTORY DAY

ZAPORIZHZHIA

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin used his country's biggest patriotic holiday on Monday to again justify his war in Ukraine but did not declare even a limited victory or signal where the conflict is headed, as his forces pressed their offensive with few signs of progress.

The Russian leader oversaw a Victory Day parade on Moscow's Red Square, with troops marching in formation and military hardware on display to celebrate the Soviet Union's role in the 1945 defeat of Nazi Germany.

But his much-anticipated speech offered no new insights into how he intends to salvage the grinding war, and he instead stuck to allegations that Ukraine posed a threat to Russia, even though Moscow's nuclear-armed forces are far superior in number and firepower.

Russian President Vladimir Putin attends the Immortal Regiment march through Red Square marking the 77th anniversary of the end of World War II in Moscow on Monday | AP

"The danger was rising by the day," Putin said. "Russia has given a preemptive response to aggression. It was forced, timely and the only correct decision."

He steered clear of battlefield specifics, failing to mention the potentially pivotal battle for the vital southern port of Mariupol and not even uttering the word "Ukraine."

On the ground, meanwhile, intense fighting raged in Ukraine's east, the vital Black Sea port of Odesa in the south came under bombardment again, and Russian forces sought to finish off the Ukrainian defenders making their last stand at a steel plant in Mariupol. Putin has long bristled at NATO's creep eastward into former Soviet republics, and argued Monday that Russia had to invade Ukraine before an "inevitable" clash. Ukrainian leaders and their Western backers have denied that Kyiv or NATO posed any threat.

As he has done all along, Putin falsely portrayed the fighting as a battle against Nazism, thereby linking the war to what many Russians regard as their finest hour: the triumph over Nazi Germany. The Soviet Union lost 27 million people in what Russia refers to as the Great Patriotic War.

As Putin laid a wreath in Moscow, air raid sirens echoed again in the Ukrainian capital. But Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy declared in his own Victory Day address that his country would eventually defeat the Russians.

"Very soon there will be two Victory Days in Ukraine," he said in a video. AP

Retail investors bleed as bear grips smallcap

Nifty smallcap was down 22.33% from high of 12,047.45 on Jan 18

RAM SAHGAL @Mumbai

RETAIL investors who directly buy smallcap and midcap shares have literally lost their shirts, with the Nifty Smallcap 100 index entering bear market territory on Monday, even as the Nifty Midcap 100 index closed just 4.5% shy of being in a bear market.

Nifty Smallcap, which closed at 9,356.15 on May 9, was down 22.33% from its record high of 12047.45 on Jan 18. The midcap index, which closed at 28074.45, was down 15.5% from its record high of 33243.5 on October 19, 2021.

A stock or index enters a bear market when it falls 20% or more from its recent highs. Though broader market indices have fallen sharply below their highs, the correction of some of stocks that comprise them has been far greater (see chart) and highlights the pain caused to retail investor who normally invest in high beta counters.

"Fall in midcap and small cap indices might not reflect the carnage in individual portfolios," said Rohit Srivastava, founder, IndiaCharts, who expects the market correction to sustain, fuelled by anticipation of front-loading of rate hikes by RBI, which last week raised the repo rate by 40 bps in an off-cycle meet amid a sustained rise in food and fuel prices. Nifty and Sensex have fallen 12% from their Oct 19 record highs to 16,301.85 and 54,470.67, respectively on May 9.

The rupee fall against the dollar to a record low of 77.43 intraday Monday and anticipation of further downside could exacerbate the market correction.

"Reports of many exporters not selling dollars in the forward market means they are expecting a further fall in the local unit, going forward, which bodes ill for the rupee in the short term," said Hormuz Maloo, director AFco Investments. A fall in the rupee cuts the dollar returns of FIIs who sell index as well as the broader market stocks in response, prolonging the correction.

LIC IPO receives good response on last-day bid

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

THE initial public offering (IPO) of the Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC) received good response, with investors subscribing 2. 95 times of the shares offered on the last day of its bidding.

The IPO received bids for 47.83 crore equity shares against the 16.2 crore equity shares on offer. A finance ministry official said the issue has been predominantly lifted by domestic investors .

According to the government, the shares will be allocated to the bidders on May 12 and the insurance company will be listed on May 17.

"The issues can be seen from the point of view of self reliant India also, as the major chunk has been subscribed by domestic investors. This shows that Indian investors can pull off such a big issue without depending upon foreign investors," DIPAM Secretary Tuhin Kanta Pandey said when asked about the lukewarm response from foreign institutional investors (FIIs) in the press conference. He added that the FII will deepen the market

Meanwhile, the DIPAM secretary clarified that as per the rules, the government can't further dilute its stake beyond 3.5% for one year.

The bids received from policyholders were 6 times oversubscribed. LIC policyholders were offered a discount of ₹60 per share, while retail investors and employees were given a discount of ₹45 per share. The qualified institutional buyer(QIB) section was subscribed 2.83 times for 11.2 crore equity shares against 3.95 crore shares on offer. Meanwhile, retail investors subscribed 1.99 times with bids coming in for 13.77 crore shares as against 6.91 crore shares on offer. 2.96 crore shares were earmarked for the non-institutional investors and they bid for 8.61 crore shares, reflecting a subscription of 2.91 times.

Govt on LIC public issue

Govt says the shares will be allocated to the bidders on May 12 and the insurance company will be listed on May 17. DIPAM secretary Tuhin Kanta Pandey clarified that as per the rules, the government can't further dilute its stake beyond 3.5% for one year

DoT ASKS TRAI TO REDUCE 5G SPECTRUM BASE PRICE

RAKESH KUMAR @New Delhi

THE Department of Telecommunication (DoT) on Friday asked Trai if it is possible to reduce the base price of 5G spectrum in the upcoming auction.

The department also urged the telecom regulator to reserve 5G spectrum for state-owned BSNL and exclude the telco from the upcoming auction. The department referred back some of the TRAI's recommendations on 5G auction.

"Taking into account recent policy decisions on allocation of spectrum to strategic sector PSU, i.e., BSNL and considering the request of BSNL, following spectrum may be reserved for BSNL in all the 22 LSAs and be excluded from the spectrum availability for upcoming auction," said DoT in its response.

Last month (11 April), Trai had came up with its recommendations on 5G modalities, in which it recommended that the entire available spectrum should be put to auction in the forthcoming auction. On the reserve price issue, the authority recommended that the reserve price for spectrum allocation in the case of 30 years should be equal to 1.5 times the reserve price of allocation for 20 years in the respective band. DoT asked if it was possible to keep the validity period for spectrum assignment through the upcoming auction at 20 years, as it was in previous auctions.

DoT also asked if there could be a case for reduction in reserve prices. "Given fast-changing techno-commercial ecosystem, spectrum valuation at shorter intervals may be desirable. For instance, in licensed shared access (LSAs)/bands where spectrum remains unsold, there could be a case for cut in prices. Alternatively, there could be a spectrum band which may be more valuable due to a technological breakthrough," said DoT.

ON BSNL

DoT also asked telecom sector regulator Trai to reserve 5G spectrum for state-owned BSNL and exclude the telco from the upcoming auction

FMCG PRODUCTS

Distributors may stage protest over pay parity demand

SAMIKSHA GOEL @New Delhi

THE All India Consumer Products Distributors Federation (AICPDF), which has been communicating with FMCG firms over the last three months on the issue of alleged deep discounting and predatory prices by JioMart, said it will take it to the road if pay parity is not achieved.

Dhairyashil Patil, President, AICPDF in an interaction with The New Indian Express, told that some firms are taking actions but 'we demand stricter measures to prevent the JioMart monopoly or we will come to road in the third quarter this year'.

The prices that are offered to the retailer by JioMart are lower than the lending cost of the authorized distributor, says Patil adding the company is giving discounts to the tune of 10-15%.

"Jio has a habit of killing the competition, establishing the monopoly and then going for business. This is their modus operandi – go to an ecosystem and disturb it entirely and then rule over it," Patil said.

90% trade in FMCG business is done through general trade, which is controlled by distributors.

AICPDF had earlier written to the top 25 FMCG companies and these companies talked to the distributors in January, February. "The companies assured us that they will maintain the price parity in the market. There were positive signs for one or two months but again the same thing started."

"We have warned the companies that we will take the matters to the road and will be going in for a plan of action in the third quarter, which is the largest quarter for all FMCG companies," he said.

Patil, however, added that he believes that there won't be this situation as companies take actions periodically.

NTPC invites bids to import 4.53 MT of coal

New Delhi: State-owned power giant NTPC has invited bids to procure imported 4.53 million tonnes (MT) coal mainly for blending with the domestic dry fuel in thermal plants. The NTPC tender for the import of coal assumes significance in view of the ongoing dry fuel shortage at power plants. Earlier this month, the power ministry had directed all the states and gencos (electricity-generating firms) to import at least 10 per cent of their requirement of coal for blending amid shortages at thermal plants. PTI

Razorpay announces ESOP buyback for 650 staff

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

FINANCIAL services company Razorpay has announced its largest ESOP (employee stock ownership plan) buyback plan for its employees, as part of a ₹578 crore transaction.

This is Razorpay's fourth ESOP sale, and it is for 650 existing and former employees, the company said. Employees who hold stocks will be eligible to sell up to 30% of their vested ESOP shares.

The sale is led by marquee tech investors Lightspeed Venture Partners and Moore Strategic Ventures, who are also joining as partners.

The company has been facilitating the ESOP sale for the past three years and last year, it was worth over ₹73 crore. This year, the company looks to benefit employees across roles-such as software engineers, product managers, customer experience agents and sales.

In the start-up industry, ESOP sales have been a source of significant wealth creation for employees.

Harshil Mathur, CEO & Co-founder, Razorpay, said, "The last two years have been challenging for each one of us, and despite the challenges, our Razors stuck together and collectively guided the company through massive growth. In the last year, Razorpay grew over 300% and we plan to achieve $90 billion TPV (total payment volume) by the end of 2022."

Razorpay, which was valued at $7.5 billion after its $375 million Series F funding round last year, forayed into the international markets with the acquisition of Malaysian-based firm Curlec and closed its fifth acquisition IZealiant recently. It plans to increase its merchant count from 8 million to 10 million by 2022.

Razorpay conducted its first ESOP sale in Nov 2018, and the second and third ESOP sales were in Nov 2019 and March 2021. Till now, the fintech major has awarded ESOPs to 1,940 existing and former employees.

RIL share price falls 4% after Q4 results

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

SHARES of Reliance Industries Ltd (RIL) nose-dived 4% on Monday after the company's fourth quarter profit missed street estimate. The company released its Q4FY22 on Friday.

The stock fell even as major brokerages remains bullish on the company's future prospects with Morgan Stanley saying RIL is likely to clock $20 bn EBITDA by end 2022.

RIL shares plummeted by 3.97% on Monday to close at 2,517.15 on the BSE. During the past five sessions, it has declined by 9%, which is greater than fall seen in benchmark indices Sensex and Nifty during the same time period.

The company on Friday reported a 22.50% year-on-year (YoY) increase in consolidated net profit at ₹16,203 crore (attributable to the owners of the company) compared to ₹13,227 crore in the same quarter last year. Profit after tax (PAT) for in the quarter was not only below analysts' expectations but also lower than net profit of ₹18,549 crore the firm had reported in the December ended quarter. While the company's bread and butter oil to chemical (O2C) business performed well, its retail business had a rather disappointing quarter.

Nevertheless, domestic and global brokerages see a major upsurge in the shares of India's most valuable company as geopolitical tensions is expected to give a big boost to its core refining business.

"A refining Golden Age, tightening global gas markets, and improving telecom subscriber quality point to a $20bn+ EBITDA run rate by end-2022.

With progress in new energy-investments, a $50bn market cap uplift appears ahead as EBITDA trends pose upside risks," said Morgan Stanley in a note while the stock a price target of ₹3,253.

Adani Airport Holdings raises $250 million

To expand its airport business, billionaire Gautam Adani-promoted Adani Airport Holdings (AAHL) on Monday said it has raised $250 mn through a 3-year ECB facility from a consortium of Standard Chartered Bank (SCB) and Barclays Bank. The facility has an option to raise an additional $200 mn The freshly raised capital will be used for capital expenditure and the development of six airports, the company said in a release. This transaction marks the completion of the first step of the capital management plan of AAHL, which includes tapping the public capital markets to enable access to long-term capital sources for infrastructure development, it said. LTIMindtree to see growth in BFSI and retail verticals, say analysts

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE proposed L&T Infotech (LTI) and Mindtree amalgamation will help LTIMindtree to strengthen collaboration opportunities and create the country's next large-scale IT services player. LTIMindtree will have a diversified service offerings portfolio across different verticals.

Along with revenues ($3,513 million), the combined entity's employee headcounts will also increase. LTI has over 46,000 manpower and there are more than 35,000 employees in Mindtree. Though analysts point out the benefits, they also say it's too early to talk about the benefits at the cost level.

Last week, Larsen & Toubro (L&T) announced the merger between its IT services business units- LTI and Mindtree.

According to brokerage firm Anand Rathi, the combined entity offers high growth potential in BFSI, hi-tech and retail, a diversified base and better margin defence.

For the combined entity, BFSI will be the largest vertical, with 35% revenue exposure, followed by retail CPG manufacturing at 26%, and by CMT/h-tech at 25%, together 86% of revenues, it said.

It says revenues to touch $5 billion by FY24 and margins to hold at 20% after M&A-related costs and potential employee-retention-related expenses.

Though a few analysts have said that both firms have complementary capabilities and client exposures, Peter Bendor-Samuel, CEO of Everest Group, a research firm told TNIE that it is a risky decision, as they could lose market momentum.

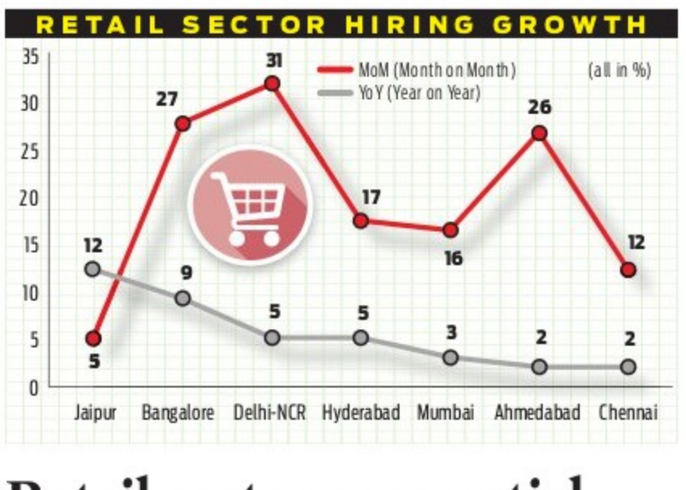
RETAIL SECTOR HIRING GROWTH



Retail sector sees uptick in hiring demand: Report

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ NewDelhi

IN a sign of recovery in retail sector, hiring demand has shown significant recovery at 47% year- on-year(yoy), surpassing pre-pandemic levels, according to data from Monster India.

The Top contributing job roles in retail include sales & business development, customer service and data analyst/research analyst, says Monster India data.

In terms of location, Delhi-NCR witnessed the highest yoy growth at 31%, followed by Bengaluru at 27% and Ahmedabad at 26%.

On a month-on-month basis, Jaipur saw the highest growth at 12%, followed by Bengaluru at 9% and both Delhi-NCR and Hyderabad at 5%.

According to the report, in April 2022, India has registered an overall growth of 15% yoy and 4% month-on-month in hiring demand as a result of increased positive business sentiment. It said that BFSI continues to remain the fastest job recovering sector with a 54% annual growth rate followed by retail that grew 47% annually and then production and manufacturing industry at 35%.

"While BFSI continued to witness a boom in job opportunities, the re-opening of brick-and-mortar stores have resulted in a sharp rise in the retail job market."

MG Motor hits 1 lakh sales mark in 3 yrs of debut

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

ONE of India's newest carmakers - MG Motor - has crossed the 1 lakh cumulative sales milestone since the launch of its first vehicle – Hector SUV - nearly three years ago.

The carmaker in an interview with TNIE said that its journey in the Indian market has not been very fluent given the covid-19 induced lockdowns impacted sales and the ongoing semiconductor shortage has forced automakers to cut production. However, the company said it was very optimistic about its future for which it was investing nearly ₹4,000 crore to set up a second factory and launching a new affordable EV that will be priced between ₹10-15 lakh in the first quarter of calendar year 2023.

MG's optimistic view about the Indian market comes even as a noticeable number of automakers left Indian market citing massive losses in the past few year. The most recent one being Nissan's sub-brand Datsun, which announced its exit last month.

"I won't be commenting as such on the exits. I think one has to look at the entire strategy based on what one has to achieve in the market. I think from our perspective, key requirements is a strong network, cost of ownership of your vehicle, satisfaction of the customers both in the sales and service side and bringing in new technology," said Gaurav Gupta, chief commercial officer of MG Motor India.

He added, "You will be looking at our second plant soon and that itself should convey the strength, belief and the work we are doing on our product portfolio here." MG Motor is planning to invest approximately ₹4,000 crore for its second manufacturing facility.

Mumbai's Suryakumar to miss rest of IPL

Mumbai Indians batter Suryakumar Yadav was on Monday ruled out of the IPL due to a left forearm muscle injury. The India batter played eight matches this season for the five-time champions and scored 303 runs at an average of 43.29, which included three half-centuries. Surya had also missed the first two matches for Mumbai Indians in this season with an injury.

JAS MUSIC NOT ENOUGH

Bumrah returns his best figures in IPL but Mumbai batters surrender meekly against KKR

S GOMESH @Chennai

AS Jasprit Bumrah's fiery spell restricted Kolkata Knight Riders to 164/9 at the DY Patil stadium on Saturday, momentum was with Mumbai Indians. But such has been their batting performances this season that one wasn't sure how it was going to go down. And Rohit Sharma did not even last one ever as he was adjudged caught behind off Tim Southee for two runs from six balls.

Ishan Kishan kept it going for Mumbai in the next three overs as they were 26 for one after four. In came, Andre Russell, who was undone by a Jasprit Bumrah masterclass in the first innings, and bowled the hard lengths right away, taking a leaf out of the Mumbai pacer's book. He reaped rewards immediately, removing Tilak Varma cheaply. With Sunil Narine and Varun Chakravarthy choking the run rate, Mumbai were stuttering at 66 for two at the halfway mark. Russell came back and delivered Ramandeep Singh's wicket off yet another back of length delivery. Tim David hit the next three balls for boundaries, but KKR had found a working template from what they saw off Bumrah earlier. Hard lengths at the body till the batter perishes.

As Varun removed the dangerous David, Mumbai were down to 100/4, but they still had hope with Kieron Pollard and Kishan in the middle. But they were about to receive what Bumrah had served in the first innings. And this time, it was Pat Cummins who took three wickets in an over, all off short-pitched deliveries, sending Kishan, Daniel Sams and Murugan Ashwin packing. MI had gone down to 102 for seven in a span of six deliveries. Pollard hung around but without much success but that wasn't enough as MI fell short by 52 runs.

Earlier, when Shreyas said they had five changes in the playing XI, the key one among them was the return of Venkatesh Iyer, who was dropped after a string of poor scores. And, the southpaw did not take any time to show what he is capable of, taking on Ashwin with a massive six over deep midwicket. Venkatesh hit Kumar Kartikeya Singh for 12 runs in three balls, the spinner had the last laugh, bagging his wicket for 43 runs. Ajinkya Rahane got out shortly after, but Rana kept it going for them at the other end. Kolkata were 136/3 after 14 overs. Andre Russell had joined Rana in the middle after Shreyas' dismissal. With Russell on strike, Rohit duly brought back Bumrah. It was the blockbuster match-up of the match. The best batter against the best bowler. But it did not last long. Just two deliveries to be precise. First ball, yorker on the crease and Russell just managed to dig it out. The second was a short-pitched delivery that rose to Russell's shoulder. He tried to hit it across the line only to sky it and Kieron Pollard completed the rest. It was pure Bumrah masterclass. But it was just the beginning of something special from the pacer.

A triple-wicket maiden followed as Bumrah removed Rana, Cummins and Narine in the same over. Brief scores: KKR 164/9 in 20 overs (Venkatesh 43; Bumrah 5/10) bt MI 113/10 in 17.3 ovs (Kishan 51; Cummins 3/22).

Tamil Nadu set to break 13-year duck

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

WHEN Mareeswaran Sakthivel was growing up in Kovilpatti, he frequently saw himself wearing the India jersey, with a hockey stick in hand and being the engine room in midfield. It was, by any measure, a far-fetched idea. Kovilpatti, a small town next to Madurai, is a hockey-crazy town. However, it's remained a speck on India's hockey map. More so, Tamil Nadu players don't break into the national team. You can count the players from the state to have played for the country since 2004 in one hand and still have spare fingers left. S Karthi, from Ariyalur, has been in the junior national camp since 2020. Like Mareeswaran, Karthi also dreamed lofty dreams.

Now, both Mareeswaran and Karthi have been selected to play for India at the upcoming Asia Cup in Indonesia. When they make their senior debuts — Hockey India named an 'India A' team on Monday but this is very much a senior event — in Jakarta later this month, they will become the first players from Tamil Nadu to don the national jersey since Gunasekar and Naveen did in 2009. "I was told about this only this afternoon," Mareeswaran told this daily. "I have been smiling ever since I found out. Just one of happiness. Happy. I have worked towards this for a long time. All that hard work has paid off. Now the focus is utilising this chance and hopefully I can play for the main team."

He picked up hockey because the one sport Kovilpatti regularly hosted was hockey. "When I was small, my father (he works at a matchstick factory) used to take me to a lot of hockey games. That's how I started to watch the sport." He's also looking forward to playing with state-mate Karthi. "We didn't play in any age-group tournaments for the state but we played together at the junior nationals in 2019. I know him well," he said.

Hockey Unit of Tamil Nadu president, Sekar J Manoharan, was ecstatic.

"After 12-13 years, we finally have two players who have been selected. This is great news. I would say 3-4 years ago, the state had a good batch of juniors and you are seeing the proof of that. Hopefully, this is the start." With Hockey India opting to field a weakened side at the Asia Cup to lighten the workload of some of the players, Rupinder Pal Singh made an expected return as captain with Birendra Lakra his deputy (both the players had retired after the Olympics). What remains to be seen is if HI will stick to their plans of sending this team for Commonwealth Games in Birmingham.

Lovlina enters second round

ENS @Chennai

FIGHTING for the first time since winning a historic bronze in Tokyo Olympics last year, there was much anticipation on how Lovlina Borgohain would resume. Over six months had already elapsed since then and the IBA Women's World Championships, which got rolling on Monday, was the start of a fresh cycle for many boxers including Lovlina.

Entering the tournament with a reputation, she was touted to resume on a good note. And she did just that by getting the better of Chen Nien-Chin of Chinese Taipei, a familiar rival whom she had beaten last year during the Olympics. Even though Chen gave a tough fight, that was not enough as Lovlina won by a split verdict (3-2). The boxer from Assam will face Cindy Winner Djankeu Ngamba of Fair Chance Team — created for athletes who have felt forced to leave their countries, usually due to conflict — on May 13.

THE DROPS

He's blessed with all the modern weapons that typically elevates a tennis player from good to potentially very good. Alcaraz also has a mean drop, or one should say a variety of drop shots in his locker that he can play from both wings. He blocks the ball like a Test batter would when playing for time on the last day. He also couples that with devastating forehard strokes from behind the baseline.

SELF BELIEF

One of the most eye-catching things about Alcaraz's play is his mental tenacity to remain in points and, ergo, matches. He never gives up a lost cause and always backs himself. To give an example, he turned his ankle against Rafa Nadal and lost some momentum. Rather than let that affect him, he refocused and found a solution. Luckily, he marries this trait with that other most important of tennis currencies: shot-selection from the baseline.

COMPARISON WITH ONE OF THE GOATS

Even if the wider world started recognising his name after his takedowns of Novak Djokovic and Rafael Nadal on back-to-back days, he had already earned comparisons with the latter, his idol. It also helps when Alcaraz has ticked of a series of things that has made him the 'first player since Nadal to do X'. Already inside the top-10 after a rapid rise in 2022, he can create magic in the Parisian clay.

MONIKA MONALISA

SONAM Kapoor has always had her A-game on when it comes to her fashion choices. And now that she's pregnant, she's increasing the glam quotient with maternity wear too. But it's not one of her elaborate outfits though — kaftans has become her go-to outfit. Recently, she took to Instagram to share some of the kaftans she received by designer friend Masaba Gupta and entrepreneur Samyukta Nair. Before that, the Delhi-6 actor shared her maternity shoot pictures where she was seen wearing a black kaftan in sheer fabric.

While kaftans have taken over Kapoor's wardrobe, there is an array of options that kaftan lovers can pick from. If you are looking for something to lounge in, organic cotton fabric kaftans can be an option.

Hardik Patel, co-founder of Chhapa, known for its quirky designs and hand block prints, vouches for it. "Kaftans are our second most liked products after saree. Our target audience is between the age group of 20 and 30," says Patel, who adds the brand is his wife Shipa Patel's brainchild. When Chhapa was conceptualised, the idea was to bring a modern twist to the 100-year-old technique of block printing. "She wondered what could be done differently to attract young customers so we made it more quirky," says Patel, who points out that Vidya Balan is a fan of the designs.

Kaftans can also be statement pieces, celebrity designer Archana Shah assures. "Our kaftans are pieces meant to be transseasonal, something that goes well from a party to a beach vacation wear. It's also ideal for accommodating your pregnancy figure to your post-pregnancy style," says Shah. The designer points out that it can be styled in different ways. "It can easily be styled with Kundan jewellery for a wedding or beaded earrings at a beach location, paired with some boho flats," adds Shah, whose desgins are priced at ₹10,000 onwards.

Vrinda Sachdev, co-founder Qbik, says nowadays kaftan as a costume is so versatile that you can dress it up for any kind of function. "Brides and their friends have been purchasing kaftans for their pre-wedding functions these days. Brides today want to be easy-going and have fun during the events. They are now looking for options that have multi-use and season agnostic," she says, adding that the designs range from ₹18,000 onwards.

Designed by Archana Shah

To add to the glam, the brand has added some interesting touches to kaftans. Sachdev explains, "We add cinched waists and embroidered belts to create the shape for the kaftan. Most of our pieces incorporate colour-blocking so that the pieces give an illusion of the wearer being taller. There's also hand embroideries and luxurious fabrics used. There's been a welcome shift for kaftans and we are here for it!"

'For holistic learning, it is imperative to include skills in today's curriculum'

School of Meaningful Experiences, an education startup, is building a community of students focused on soft skills, communication and scientific and creative thinking. Rakesh Godhwani, Founder & CEO, SoME, speaks about the importance of these skills, their influence on our lives and the need to include them as curriculum in education.

SoME is a unique education start-up that focuses on soft skill development. As the Founder of the start-up and a communication expert, what is your take on the importance of soft skills in the education sector?

Firstly, I would like to add that at SoME, we don't refer to these skills as soft. We strongly believe there are crucial skills that help in the overall development of a human being making them more competent in both their professional and personal life. So, we prefer to call them human skills. In today's fast-paced world, our educational institutions are under greater pressure to keep pace with the changing dynamics and create academic content that suits current industry requirements. I believe that when students interact in schools with each other, seniors and teachers, be it inside the classrooms or outside, the essential skills that can shape their future are communication and confidence. However, if the students are not curious, creative, collaborative, and competent, the other two will not work. This is the foundation of our Six Cs philosophy.

For a more holistic learning, it is imperative to include soft/human skills and communication skills in today's curriculum in a more engaging and effective manner. The education system in India focuses on testing the students' memorising abilities, not their critical thinking. The lack of creativity or a critical thinking ability is one of the reasons why students fear taking risks, and do jobs they are not satisfied with. The curriculum must proactively focus on teaching students about various life skills such as how to communicate effectively, interact confidently with others, react to certain situations, handle failures etc. for them to become successful and well-adjusted individuals.

At SoME, we complement the curriculum, by looking at education from a cross-disciplinary human element - which is missing in the education sector currently. For instance, one of the students at SoME had an issue speaking confidently in class when she first joined our institute. This impacted her psychological and academic growth. She undertook our programme and today, we're proud to say, that she has become a good orator. And this transformation is not just limited to schools. Many come to our institute in different phases of their lives with certain goals in mind - to boost confidence, improve communication skills, enhance their abilities to pitch their ideas and learn leadership skills, among others. This is where SoME, as an educational institute, helps learners excel in their field and shape their future.

Can soft skills be an essential influence on furthering a student's career? If yes, could you please elaborate with an interesting anecdote.

I realised the remarkable influence of soft/human skills in a person's life when I had the opportunity to travel and meet people around the world. I often noticed that my Indian colleagues, despite being one of the more technically competent professionals, were some of the quietest people in the room. The others, especially the westerners, were articulate and confident in their communication. While I was aware of the problem, I didn't realise how huge it was until I saw the stark contrast in corporate settings.

> Effective and confident communication is an essential ingredient to success. A person who is unable to articulate or convey his/her ideas or thoughts cannot be successful no matter how good he is on paper.
> Rakesh Godhwani, Founder & CEO, SoME

After leaving the corporate world, I noticed the same issue among my students. They were good at written exams but struggled with presentations. In today's rapidly changing world, opportunities don't wait. The smartest and most articulate people are considered assets to organisations. In a competitive world, it is vital to train students academically and also focus on developing their soft/human skills. Effective and confident communication is an essential ingredient to success. A person who is unable to articulate or convey his/her ideas or thoughts cannot be successful no matter how good he is on paper.

Do you believe that including soft skills as a curriculum in higher education will pave the way for more confident and holistically skilled graduates in India?

Most definitely! One of the main issues of our education system is that it encourages rote learning by constantly focusing on and pressuring them with examinations. A student's skill set cannot only be weighed by their grades and marks. It equally depends on their ability to come up with creative solutions, apply their mind through critical thinking and communicate effectively with confidence, to move ahead and strive for excellence. Including soft/human skills as a curriculum can help fill the void in the traditional education system.

The focus should be on encouraging students to be creative, ideate beyond the existing curriculum, and provide them with the space and opportunity to try new ideas, take risks, fail and learn in a more wholesome manner. The education system must mould and shape students to prepare them to face the challenges and realities of life. They shouldn't be afraid of change or taking the risk of shifting to a new career even when they are "comfortable" at their current job.

I also feel that the fear of failing at an exam adds pressure, further breaking their confidence in doing well. A more practical approach to teaching, with better demonstration, will enable students to have fun while learning in their own creative and unique way. Our education must tell our students that it is okay to fail, that it is good to have ideas that might not align with the curriculum, and thus, empower them. This will eventually pave the way for more confident and skilled graduates in India.

Soft skills and communication skills have never been given enough focus in the Indian curriculum. How is SoME driving to fill that void and change the narrative?

There's ample research to prove that one can learn to be a good communicator, with proper guidance, training, and effort. At SoME, we approach our learners with our unique Six C's model, which focuses on improving an individual's key life skills, namely Communication, Confidence, Collaboration, Curiosity, Competence and Creativity.

We also believe that you can get the best results from a person by empowering them, not by instilling a sense of fear in them. At SoME, we don't have 'teachers' or 'faculty'. We have Guides who inspire learners to be a better version of themselves by taking them through their journey of transformation. We ensure that learning is fun, which allows the student to apply their ideas or thoughts freely and not second guess them. Also, the fear of failure does not limit their ability to take risks and think creatively.

Our flagship programmes are designed to cater to the evolving needs of specific age groups. In the last few months, we have initiated partnerships with corporates, and renowned academic institutes to ensure our human skills programme reaches working professionals and young graduates. The mission is to aid the learners' holistic growth – personally, professionally, mentally, and emotionally.

What are your plans to promote or make soft skills or communication a part of India's mainstream narrative or education?

We recently conducted a programme called Art of Communication for Leaders in a highly respected academic institute in Bengaluru. The course aimed to empower students to be more confident when communicating their thoughts and ideas in the professional world. We simulated job interviews where they were tutored on good effective communication styles, how to develop creative answers and display their collaboration skills when in an interview. These skills are not taught in institutes, and it was our first step toward bridging the gap. We have also signed an MoU with a leading Indian university to provide Management Development Programme for mid and senior-level managers on managerial and leadership communication and the Six Cs. In May, we are launching our ambitious Campus Ambassador programme that will enable a few chosen students to create their own communities within the college and hold conversations and events around human skills. We hope to create awareness about human skills through these engagements.

TUTTI FRUITY CHEESECAKE

INGREDIENTS
- Cherries: 1/3 cup
- Pineapples (chopped): 1/3 cup
- Cream cheese
- Powdered sugar: 1/4 cup
- Orange juice: 3 tbsp
- Vanilla extract: 2 tbsp
- Whipping cream: 2 cup

–Manaswini Choudhury, New Delhi

METHOD
- Line a loaf pan. Chop and combine dried fruits.
- Set aside about a half cup of dried fruit mixture to decorate the surface of the cake later.
- Using a mixer, blend soft cream cheese with powdered sugar until completely smooth.
- Add orange juice and vanilla.
- Add 1/2 cup cream and blend into the cream cheese mixture. Add remaining amount of cream and whip to medium peaks.
- Transfer mixture into a plastic lined pan. Cover the pan with plastic food film wrap and place in a refrigerator for at least six hours or overnight.
- Decorate with dried fruits and, if desired, some fresh fruit as well.

FIT BIT

UTTANA SHVANAKASANA

(INTENSE EXTENDED PUPPY DOG POSE)

This asana is an intermediate and combination of Dolphin and Child poses. Spiritually, it activates both, the Svadisthana (spleen or sacral) and Anahata (heart), chakras due to the position of the spine and heart in this asana. These chakras govern traits such as self-confidence, openness and self-love. Resting in this asana can help the practitioner feel more accepting of themselves and others. It is a hybrid pose, as well as a warm-up yoga, which helps to prepare the body for more intense yoga poses.

STEPS
- Start in Bharmanasana, with your shoulders over your wrists, your hips over your knees, and relaxed feet.
- Then, exhale and walk forward with your hands towards the top edge of your mat, your chest and forehead on the ground.
- Make sure your hips and knees stay perpendicular.
- Now, keep your arms active; don't let your elbows and forearms touch the ground.
- Spread your fingers and press firmly onto the ground. Draw your shoulder back and keep your hips high towards the ceiling.
- Look forward so that your chin rests gently on the mat.
- Then, allow your neck to relax and breathe into your back, lengthening your spine.
- Hold this position for around 5-7 breaths while breathing deeply.
- Release by coming back into the Tabletop position and then standing up straight.

BENEFITS
- It opens the heart and the tightness around the shoulders, forearms and back.
- Improves blood circulation to the chest, the shoulders, and the entire body. Improves the breathing capacity of the lungs.
- The lower abdomen gets a great massage and stomach muscles get activated while trying to take the hips upwards.
- Stretches shoulders, arms; beneficial for hips, hamstrings.
- It is considered to be a great stress buster as well as calms the mind and the body.
- Helps to reduce the fat and improves the digestion system.
- It reduces the symptoms of chronic stress, and insomnia.

LIMITATIONS
- People with knee, neck injury, shoulder problems or suffering from severe lower back pain, avoid this asana.
- Women can skip this asana during pregnancy.
- Practise under the yoga expert's supervision.

- By N. Elumalai, PhD Scholar (Yoga Science) at Meenakshi Academy of Higher Education & Research, Chennai

IT'S ALL ABOUT OUR TWO LIVES AND TWO DEATHS

OPEN SPACE
Nirad Mudur
Deputy Resident Editor
niradgmudur@newindianexpress.com

IN the prologue of his book, Farthest Field: An Indian Story of the Second World War, writer Raghu Karnad, recipient of the Windham-Campbell Literature Prize for Non-Fiction, writes: "People have two deaths: the first at the end of their lives, when they go away, and the second at the end of the memory of their lives, when all who remember them are gone. Then a person quits the world completely."

This also means that people have two lives: one, when they are biologically and socially active; and the second, when their biological life ends, but is extended through the memory of those who are influenced by them.

The longevity and quality of the "second life" depends on what impressions the individual has left on your mind. It could be good or bad. But they are remembered, all the same. Adolf Hitler's "second life" continues, but it is linked to horrific memories and tales of the Holocaust. He remains alive, but as a demonic character, responsible for the death of innocent millions.

On the other hand, the "second lives" of people like Mahatma Gandhi (Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi), Babasaheb Ambedkar (Bhimrao Ramji Ambedkar), Martin Luther King or Nelson Mandela are extended through memories of their yeoman efforts in political ethicism, non-violent resistance to colonial powers, political and social inclusion, and setting healthy political and social guidelines for inclusivity in the democracies of the world.

History is filled with extended "second lives" of personalities. Their "ultimate deaths" are nowhere nearby. They remain etched in our memory through books, conversations, and events marking their birth or (biological) death anniversaries — depending on the roles they have played to improve the quality of lives of those still in their "first lives".

The range and depth of their efforts determine their entries into history books — the powerful medium that extends the longevity of their "second lives".

ILLUSTRATION| SOURAV ROY

However, a vast majority does not enter history books. They are the more common folks. They are remembered by much fewer people, but remembered they are. These people directly impact our "first lives" in childhood, adolescence, and through the physical, social and psychological turmoil of adult years. Starting with our parents, elders in the family in which one grows up, siblings, friends and relatives, to classmates, soulmates, colleagues, and people we come across on a daily basis to touch and influence our lives.

However insignificant it may seem, each one plays a role to shape our lives. Each one whose path we cross leaves an imprint on our mind. And that imprint embeds memories of that person much after he/she leaves on completion of their "first life". They live on with their "second life" in our memories — again, good or bad.

We remain exposed to the good and the bad. Rabbi Harold S Kushner, in his book, When bad things happen to good people, says, "(Man) is free to choose to be good, which means he must be free to choose to be evil. Some good people are good on a relatively modest scale. They are charitable, they visit the sick, they help a neighbour change a flat tyre. Others are good on a grander scale. They work diligently to discover a cure for a disease, or they fight for the extension of the rights of the poor and the powerless. Some bad people choose evil, but have the capacity to be evil only on a small scale. They lie, cheat, take things that don't belong to them. And some have the ability to do harm to millions, even as their good counterparts have the ability to be helpful to millions."

The quality of our own "second life" shall depend on those very choices we make in our "first life".

Many professionals are complaining about burnout, loss of sleep and excessive use of screens which has taken a massive toll on their physical and mental health. Here's how some companies are dealing with digital fatigue

SWITCH OFF

SHRABANI CHAKRABORTY

AS work from home came to be called as the new normal, people across the globe were pushed to embrace a digital transformation. In the IT industry, professionals are bound to spend long hours in front of the screen to cater to the needs of their clients. However, many are complaining of burnout, loss of sleep due to excessive use of screens. This is affecting them mentally and physically.

"As IT professionals, we have to constantly monitor data and check our client's mail to meet the daily target. To reduce screen time, our manager urges us to schedule breaks in equal intervals of time," says Rajshekhar Choudhury, a data analysis engineer at Bosch. "Our company has a fitness club and various sports activities for the employees. My colleagues and I often go cycling to keep our mind calm. This helps us in combating digital fatigue," he adds.

Joyjit Bhattacharya, a senior IT professional, says, "Our company encourages us to take an hour-long break every day so that we can interact with our colleagues and find time for recreation. The company also conducts yoga classes once a month to keep a check on our mental health."

Companies are also working towards extending support to their employees by introducing techniques and recreational activities to tackle mental health issues in these unprecedented times. "Sitting for long hours in front of the screen causes problems in positioning. We were introduced to 'ergonomics' which helped us maintain the correct posture during hectic working hours. The office hosted a few talk shows where we could interact with renowned psychologists and express our concerns. It also held musical evenings for recreation," says Sudipto Roy, a product manager at Tata Consultancy Services.

While technology is all around, whether at work or at home, it is important to refrain ourselves from using digital devices all the time. "We're so much more connected today than we could ever have imagined. It is now possible to make ourselves immediately available to anything that needs our attention but the work-life boundary has become ambiguous," says Anindita Adya, clinical psychologist at Heart It Out.

She adds, "It has become necessary that we learn to clearly communicate our boundaries with our co-workers, highlighting our working hours and availability. It's important to be aware of and learn to recognise the early signs of burnout."

TAKE A CHILL PILL

Wondering how to strike a balance? Here are some tricks you can follow. "Digital fatigue is real and should be treated without much delay. Ensuring that daily activities such as your meals, time spent with family and friends does not involve using a digital device is the first step to combat digital fatigue. It is very important to keep ourselves engaged in physical exercise like practising yoga, cardio and cycling without the involvement of any digital device," recommends counselling psychologist Saumya Prakash.

ANILA KURIAN

KUNAAL Gurbaxani entered the music industry about a decade ago. Popularly known by his stage name, Gurbax, he picked up his love for electronic music when he moved to Atlanta from Bengaluru in 2006. Recently, he released his maiden album 'Rebirth', a futuristic eight-track compilation. He was recently in the city to perform at The Lalit Ashok hotel.

"The music scene in Bengaluru has changed tremendously. From having curfews and only limited venues to perform, the city now has a variety of spaces to perform at," says the DJ and producer.

For the album, he collaborated with singer-songwriter Rashmeet Kaur, bass music heavyweight NDS, songwriter and artist Mayila, Amsterdam-based producer and future-bass pioneer GANZ, Las Vegas-based rap duo Gold Lemonade and LA-based singer Devesh Dayal. With his new tracks, he points out that he's exploring some new-age experimental sounds. "I was a little kid eight years ago who just had a liking towards music but didn't really know it could have an audience one day. I would sit at my home in Bengaluru and mix music. Fast-forward to 2022, I feel like that little kid again who is creating music but the only difference is that there's now an audience I know who wants to hear my tracks," Gurbax says.

Kunaal Gurbaxani

Over the years, he has shared the stage with the likes of Diplo, Above & Beyond, Steve Aoki, Marshmello, Wiz Khalifa and Troyboi. He has gathered over 50 million+ plays on YouTube alone, hit number one on the Indian iTunes Electronic Music Charts, and played almost every major Indian music festival stage.

"It took me about eight years to release my first album. I definitely have goals to bring out more and I hope to get working on it soon," he says about his future plans, adding that he's looking forward to visiting the city again soon.

A SHARADHAA

S KRISHNA TO DIRECT ABISHEK AMBAREESH IN ROMANTIC DRAMA TITLED KAALI

Abishek Ambareesh is currently shooting for director Suri's Bad Manners, which is in the last leg of shooting. However, the Amar actor has already added another film to his kitty. He is next teaming up with Gajakesari, Hebbuli, and Pailwaan director S Krishna.

The upcoming film, titled Kaali, will be a romantic period drama set in the 1990s in the backdrop of the Cauvery riots. The actor and director have kept the details of the film under wraps.

Meanwhile, a source close to the project tells us that Krishna and Abishek have been in talks for the film and have locked the script. Kaali is expected to go on floors in June after Abishek wraps up his present commitments. The film will be made under the RRR Motion Pictures banner.

The makers are said to be in the process of finalising the cast and crew. More details about the project will be revealed soon.

Krishna was earlier supposed to direct Puneeth Rajkumar. However, the project did not take off due to the untimely death of the Powerstar.

The film, produced by RRR Motions Pictures, will be set in the 1990s in the backdrop of the Cauvery riots

DHRUVA SARJA DUBS FOR LATE BROTHER CHIRANJEEVI SARJA IN RAJAMARTHANDA

A still from Rajamarthanda

Dhruva Sarja

Directed by Ram Narayan, the film will is expected to release in June

CE FEATURES

WE had earlier reported that Dhruva Sarja will be dubbing for his elder brother Chiranjeevi Sarja's character in Rajamarthanda. Now, the actor, who has been shooting for Martin, has started dubbing for the movie on Monday.

Rajamarthanda is the last film of Chiru, which is directed by Ram Narayan and produced by Shiva Kumar.

The director, in his previous interview with us, mentioned that Chiranjeevi was excited to dub for the film as the dialogues were in Halegannada (Old Kannada) language. However, in a shocking turn of events Chiranjeevi Sarja died due to cardiac arrest in June 2020.

Ram Narayan is hopeful that Dhruva will do complete justice to the brother's film.

The film is in the post-production phase and expected to release in June 2022. The makers are coming up with special plans for the film as it marks Chiranjeevi Sarja's last venture. A 101-feet cut-out of the actor and a 51-feet cut-out of his son Raayan Raj Sarja will be erected ahead of the film's release. They will be specially designed by Meghana Raj Sarja's mother and actor Pramila Joshai.

Rajamarthanda, billed to be a commercial entertainer, stars Deepti Sati as the female lead. The music for the film is by Arjun Janya and Jabez K Ganesh has handled the cinematography.

UFO BAGS HINDI DISTRIBUTION RIGHTS OF RAKSHIT SHETTY'S 777 CHARLIE

The adventure drama directed by Kiranraj K will see a multilingual release on June 10

CE FEATURES

RAKSHIT Shetty's much-awaited film 777 Charlie directed by Kiranraj is all set to hit the screens in multiple languages on June 10. The multilingual film has been creating a good pre-release buzz, and the latest development is that the Hindi version of the 777 Charlie will be distributed by UFO.

An official announcement was made by the team on Monday. The makers had previously announced that the Malayalam, Tamil and Telugu versions will be distributed by actor and producer Prithviraj Sukumar, director Karthik Subbaraj and Rana Dagupati, respectively.

777 Charlie, which is based on a special affinity between a man and a puppy, has already garnered a lot of attention with its content. The film made under the Paramvah Studios banner also features Raj B Shetty, Sangeetha Sringeri, Danish Sait, and Bobby Simha among others.

The film's story written by Kiranraj has music and a background score by Nobin Paul. Aravind S Kashyap has handled the cinematography.

Never Have I Ever Season 3 premiere date announced

CE FEATURES

DEVI and her goof ups will continue as the third season of Never Have I Ever is returning to Netflix soon. The streaming giant announced that the show will premiere on August 12.

The successful coming-of-age drama, created by Mindy Kaling of The Office fame, chronicles the struggles of Devi (Maitreyi Ramakrishnan), an Indian-American student grappling with the sudden loss of her father.

The second season ended with Paxton (Barnet) and Devi patching things up and dancing at the prom. According to season three stills, it appears that the couple is doing well.

Netflix also released new photos featuring cast Maitreyi Ramakrishnan, Darren Barnet, Jaren Lewison, Richa Moorjani, Poorna Jagannathan, Lee Rodriguez, and Ramona Young.

Created by Mindy Kaling and Lang Fisher, the fourth and final season is expected to premiere sometime in 2023.

The show also has tennis great John McEnroe as the narrator. Never Have I Ever is produced by Universal Television, a division of Universal Studio Group, in association with 3 Arts Entertainment, Original Langster, and Kaling International.

Rajkummar Rao and Janhvi Kapoor

Rajkummar Rao, Janhvi Kapoor begin filming for Mr and Mrs Mahi

CE FEATURES

RAJKUMMAR Rao and Janhvi Kapoor have started filming for Mr and Mrs Mahi. The cricket-themed film is directed by Sharan Sharma (Gunjan Saxena: The Kargil Girl). It is produced by Dharma Productions.

"The field is set and team #MrAndMrsMahi is all geared up! Day 1 of shoot begins!" the producers tweeted with a picture of the film's clapperboard.

Rajkummar and Janhvi had previously worked together in Roohi (2021). In Mr and Mrs Mahi, they play characters named Mahendra and Mahima, in a story about cricket aspirations. Janhvi had previously shared pictures from the prep, perfecting her 'cover drive' in a cricket camp. Indian cricketer Dinesh Kartik was also glimpsed in the pictures.

The tagline of Mr and Mrs Mahi is, "No dream is ever chased alone." The film is written by Sharan Sharma and Nikhil Mehrotra. It is scheduled for release on October 7 this year.
